

U.S. SLENDERS COL. CLINNIN

PRESIDENT MAY HOLD UP PLANS FOR BONUS ACT

Gives Views Today to Committees.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—President Harding has rejected both plans for financing a soldiers' bonus proposed by Republican leaders in congress, who are now apprehensive that the chief executive is preparing to ask them again to postpone all bonus legislation.

Today the President let it be known that he is unalterably opposed to imposition of special taxes devised last week by Republican members of the ways and means committee.

The President further made known his opposition to a return to any taxation which has either been reduced or eliminated.

The President also disclosed a conviction that it would be unwise to pay a bonus through issuance of government bonds, which Republican leaders had suggested as an alternative for special taxation in the emergency.

To Give His Views Today.

Tomorrow the President will communicate his views officially to the ways and means committee and the senate finance committee by letter in which he will make a recommendation.

What that recommendation will be a worrying every Republican leader and member of congress who has been promising soldiers' bonus legislation at this session.

Some leaders are convinced that the President will reassert to congress that the country cannot stand the financial strain of a bonus at this time any more than it could a year ago when he asked congress to lay the onus of the legislation aside.

They draw their inference from the President's explanation that he himself had declared for soldiers' bonus in the presidential primary campaign of 1920, but fortunately had not committed himself to a time at which the promise should be fulfilled. He still believes in the bonus, but responsibilities of his high office demand that he must consider the welfare of the country.

President Between Two Fires.

In this emergency, the President finds himself confronted with the necessity of seeking a sane and defensible point between promises on one hand and proper official consideration to restore economic stability on the other.

Representative Fordney, chairman of the ways and means committee, insists tonight that bonus legislation will be passed at this session. He admits, however, that all the plans for financing the bonus which have been worked out have gone into the discard. Like other members of congress, he lacks definite information as to what stand the President will take.

In some quarters a belief is held that the President may favor some sort of a general sales tax as a means of financing the compensation bill, but Republican leaders have informed him a careful canvass of the situation shows that a sales tax will meet defeat because of the opposition of agriculture, labor, and other elements.

Danger in Sales Tax.

Furthermore, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has taken the position that, regardless of the merits of the sales tax as a basic scheme for taxation, it would cause administrative difficulties to add it to other forms of taxation.

In view of this situation, it is regarded as unlikely that the President will urge congress to finance the bonus by means of a sales tax.

Previous statements by the President have indicated that he did not believe it to be feasible to count on the use of the interest or principal of the foreign debt to finance the bonus.

The President not only is "unalterably opposed" to the plan of imposing special taxes of any kind, but he also is against the re-enactment of any of the taxes repealed in the recent revision of the revenue laws. This means that he will not sanction the re-enactment of the excess profits tax or any of the luxury or special taxes, such as the transportation taxes, which were repealed.

Harding Backs Mellon.

On the suggestion of a bond issue the President stands back of Secretary Mellon's recent declaration that new borrowings by the government would seriously embarrass the extensive refunding operations which must be undertaken during the coming year. The President is said to be convinced that it would not be possible to obtain funds for the bonus through a bond issue without causing an increase in interest rates and disturbing the Liberty bond market. He points out that

MEETING THE OVERHEAD

8 'BLACKMAILERS' IN LOS ANGELES HELD AFTER FIGHT

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 14.—Eight men, alleged to have conspired to extort large sums of money from wealthy Los Angeles business men, were arrested here tonight after a revolver battle with federal officers, deputy sheriffs, and private investigators, according to a story the Los Angeles Times will publish tomorrow. A ninth man, believed to have been seriously wounded by a bullet fired in the dark, escaped, but his capture is expected, the officers said.

The alleged conspiracy was brought to the attention of the authorities through the reported efforts of the men to obtain $25,000 in cash from the president of one of the largest corporations of Los Angeles. The names of the prospective victims have not been given out.

HARDINGS GO TO ALASKA JUNE 15; STAY A MONTH

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—(Special.)—The President and Mrs. Harding will leave here for Alaska about June 15. It was learned today, and will not return until the middle of September. According to tentative plans, the presidential party will go by special train to the Pacific coast. The Mayflower, meanwhile, will sail the Pacific and be ready to convey the party down the coast late in August.

According to present plans, the presidential special train will go from here to San Francisco. The party will then go to Seattle and thence through the inner passage up to British Columbia, and then to Alaska. It is planned to pass at least a month in Alaska.

ORDER ISSUED BY DAUGHERTY AFTER RUCTION

Trouble with Judges a Feature.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—(Special.)—Attorney General Daugherty late this afternoon issued an order suspending Col. John V. Clinnin from active connection with the office of the United States District Attorney in Chicago. The instructions, it is understood, are effective tomorrow morning.

The occasion for the Attorney General's action is the recent friction in the federal courts in Chicago evidenced by recent criticisms by Judges Landis and Evans of Col. Clinnin's relations to three separate cases that came to the attention of the two jurists.

Clinnin Hastens Action.

A further moving cause for the suspension is said to be the action of Col. Clinnin today, who as an assistant district attorney appeared before Judge Landis and asked a grand jury inquiry into the office of District Attorney C. F. Clyne.

Col. Clinnin put his request in the form of a petition seeking the immediate naming of a special investigating body. News of this move by Clinnin reached the attorney general, who already had made plans for an inquiry into the causes of the friction existing in the Chicago office and who is said to feel that Col. Clinnin's demand for such an investigation should have been made through the department of justice, of which he is an appointee and subordinate.

Daugherty Wants Inquiry.

Gen. Daugherty is said to be keen for an inquiry and disposed to accord to Col. Clinnin every opportunity to demonstrate his allegations, but his determination to issue the suspension order is said to arise from a feeling that the connection between Clinnin and the office of which Mr. Clyne is still chief.

For more than eight days since Judge Evans and Judge Landis "called" Col. Clinnin for alleged mistakes of judgment in handling cases in the Chicago district Gen. Daugherty has kept himself informed of the direction of affairs have been taking among his Chicago subordinates.

Kept Out of Court.

The notification prepared this afternoon is in effect that Col. Clinnin shall not participate in any court work or consideration of cases until further advice.

Col. Clinnin was named an assistant district attorney in Chicago last summer. Mr. Clyne's term of office does not expire until this spring. It has been the system for United States attorneys to serve out their terms even into the new administrations. There has been some talk that Mr. Clinnin would be promoted to Mr. Clyne's place, but this has never been confirmed.

GIRL OF 10 KILLED; 3 IN FAMILY HURT BY FIRE IN HOME

Walter Sexton, 12 years old, 2212 West 19th street, and his 10 year old sister, Grace, were burned, one of them fatally, last night when bed clothing in the family home caught fire at an oil stove. An elder brother, Homer, 21 years old, and the father, Ernest Sexton, were seriously burned trying to rescue them. The children were taken from the building building by firemen and were sent to the county hospital, where the little girl, Grace, died at 3 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Sexton, the mother, two days ago went to Washington, D. C., to be at the bedside of her mother, who is near death.

VILLA GIVES UP MEXICAN REBELS; THREE ARE SHOT

BY J. H. CORRYN.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
Mexico City, Feb. 14.—Gen. Antonio Pruneda and Antonio Ruiz, and Capt. Leonardo Perez of the Mexican army were executed by firing squads early this morning for complicity in revolutionary plotting. Gen. Ruiz and Capt. Perez were surrendered to the authorities by Pancho Villa, former bandit.

The officers were accused of aiding Gen. Murguia in his proposed revolution. Gen. Ruiz and Capt. Perez fled to Canutillo ranch, the home of Villa, and attempted to persuade him to join the revolution. Instead Villa seized both and sent them to Chihuahua, where they were court martialed and shot.

BRITISH TO STAY IN INDIA, SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, Feb. 14.—Prime Minister Lloyd George in common tonight said: "Let me say on behalf of the government that under no circumstances do we propose to withdraw from or to impair the full sovereignty of the king emperor of India. . . . We will support the Indian government in any action they take to establish the authority of the government."

He stressed the point that chaos and anarchy would follow British withdrawal.

It was announced that the government gave orders for Gandhi's arrest several days ago, but when the Indian leader renounced his disobedience campaign the authorities postponed their proceedings against him.

Priest Slain by Drunken Man He Tried to Pacify

LIMA, O., Feb. 14.—The Rev. Father Richard Schwideman, a Roman Catholic priest at Minster, a nearby village, was shot to death tonight by Charles Priening, a horse trader, to whose home he had gone to intercede after a riot in a state of intoxication, had terrorized the neighborhood.

British Take 140 MILLION Over Belfast; Death List 23

Open Nation-Wide Ponzi War.

BELFAST, Feb. 14.—British troops were massed at strategic points in Belfast tonight and patrols attempted to run down the gunmen of the battling religious factions, who have killed twenty-three and wounded more than 100 persons in the last four days of fighting.

Snipers of both Orange and Sinn Feir factions turned their guns against the soldiers at several points and one soldier was wounded.

Guns were fired on a tram car. Several were injured. There was promiscuous shooting on the city's main thoroughfare while it was crowded with shoppers, and bitter duels in several other sections of the city. At least four persons were killed today and three others died of wounds.

Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, accused the Sinn Feirers of throwing the bomb that has so far resulted in the death of four children. The bomb landed in the midst of a crowd of little girls merrily jumping rope.

Collins Finds Ulster Prisoners.

Craig received the following telegram from Winston Churchill, British colonial secretary, tonight: "I have just received this message from Michael Collins: 'Michael Collins is happy to inform Mr. Churchill that Mr. Collins is in a position to secure the release of a number of the prisoners captured from the north today. He is uncertain as to the number, but will know later in the day.'"

480 Cases Pending.

"The federal government is swamped with these cases," he said.

"At present there are 480 stock swindling cases pending in the federal courts, in which 874 persons have been arrested or indicted and in which more than $140,000,000 has been taken from the public."

Attorney General Daugherty revealed the northern district of Illinois (Chicago) as the most fertile field in the country for the sale of fake stock of all kinds.

COLLINS TO MAKE PROTEST

DUBLIN, Feb. 14.—Michael Collins left for London tonight to request the British government to resume the evacuation of the British troops immediately.

He will also inquire about the mobilization of approximately 7,000 police and soldiers on the Ulster side of the border and the intention to increase the British forces in Ulster from seven to seventeen battalions.

While deploring the clash at Clones resulting in the death of four northern constables and one Irish republican officer, Mr. Collins feels that the trouble could have been averted if the provisional government had been notified of the intention to send eighteen Ulster police across southern territory.

Belfast 'War' Worries British

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, Feb. 14.—Winston Churchill, the British colonial minister, announced officially in the house of commons today that the government had found it necessary to suspend the evacuation of troops from Ireland.

The situation in Belfast is causing serious anxiety in England. A campaign of murders has broken out there again and as usual each side is blaming the other. The Catholic bishop telegraphed to Prime Minister Lloyd George that no protection is provided Catholics in Belfast and that soldiers are needed.

It is reported here that Mr. Collins will urge the passage of the Irish Free State bill without delay, enabling him to enroll an army and police, whose first duty will be to deal with the De Valera supporters who are provoking disorders all over Ireland as a part of a carefully planned policy to discredit the provisional government.

Ice Breaks; 25 Members of Wedding Party Drowned

BUDAPEST, Feb. 14.—Twenty-five persons of a wedding party were drowned today when the ice on the Theiss river broke while they were crossing.

Growing friction in the United States district attorney's office in this city, with Col. J. V. Clinnin as "storm center," reached the ignition point yesterday afternoon, when Col. Clinnin appeared before Judge Landis and presented a petition asking the immediate appointment of a special investigating body. The petition, while mentioning no specific instances, charged general laxity in enforcement of the prohibition laws and asked that special attention be given to cases now pressed and dismissed and to cases where "no bills" were returned by grand juries.

Denies Any Irregularities.

Accompanying the petition was a statement from Col. Clinnin denying any irregularities on his part in recent cases in which he has been publicly rebuked by the court.

Judge Landis remarked that he would like facts; said he was not interested in the cases in another court, but in the cases in another court, but in the cases in another court.

MCCORMICK HITS DEMOCRATS FOR ORGY OF WASTE

Dispels Cox's Visions of U. S. in the League.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Senator McCormick today charged the claim of James M. Cox and other Democratic leaders that economic distress is due to the present administration, listed the waste and extravagances of the Democratic régime from which the nation still is suffering, described the persistent militarism of European nations despite the league of nations, and praised the practical achievements of the Washington arms conference.

Senator McCormick quoted from the recent speech of Mr. Cox, Democratic candidate for the presidency, predicting that America would join the league of nations.

Analyses Partisan Criticism.
"Since our partisan critics are blaming a Republican administration, let us consider the financial burden left us by the Wilson administration, and the Republican efforts to lighten it," McCormick said. "I do not dwell upon the new laws for the protection and relief of agriculture, although three of these at least are of enduring importance. I do not speak of the legislation to maintain the export trade. I do not put forward the budget act."

Incredible Sums Wasted.
"The incredible record of the former administration shows that $11,000,000,000 was expended upon the artillery program, the aircraft program, and the cost of the shipping board and the United States railroad administration."

"For this vast outlay the Democratic administration sent to the fighting front less than 200 cannon and less than 200 aircraft, many of which are now being sold for scrap metal. As the account of the American government during the great war. For this vast sum the Democratic administration produced but a single shipboard built ship to carry soldiers across the seas—and made of the American railroad system but one vast railroad wreck."

"With what waste or with what wisdom was expended the other $11,000,000,000 advanced to other governments by the Democratic secretary of the treasury we can never know, but we do know that, wasted or well spent, the two sums together constitute $22,000,000,000 of the $26,000,000,000 of the American national debt."

Echoes of Wilson's Debacle.
"For the fiscal year 1920 a Democratic administration asked $9,700,000,000 of a Republican congress, which voted $2,000,000,000 less."

"For the fiscal year 1922 we shall spend, exclusive of the interest on the debt, a little over one-third of the sum sought to be spent by the Democrats for the fiscal year of 1920. In three years we have slashed by two-thirds the original prodigal spending program of our Democratic critics."

"The rejection of the profligate Democratic estimates of expenditure by a Republican congress so conserved the resources of the government that since the Republican victory in 1918 the national debt has been diminished from the surplus revenues by more than $2,000,000,000."

"There is no other government in the world which so persistently, consistently, and drastically has reduced public expenditure as that of the United States since the Republican congress came into power after the election of 1918."

Indicts the Futile League.
On American economic aid of Europe and the league of nations, Senator McCormick presented a table showing the vast armies still being maintained abroad, and said:

"There are nearly 2,000,000 armed men encamped and garrisoned about the capital of the league of nations, to which Gov. Cox and Dr. Wilson will summon the Democratic party to drag free American in the next election. If you will read the record of the league, written by those who have served it, you will learn that in arbitration it has failed as often as it has succeeded, and that its successes in no

The Anti-Effeminacy club of Northwestern university youths came into being yesterday with the formation of the Beta chapter. The young men, fearing the "degenerating influence of femininity," yesterday made out their bylaws, among which No. 3 demands the purchasing of a pipe of some kind in order to banish the "effeminate" cigaret. They're not

CORONER'S JURY HOLDS NINE IN FALL OF MOVIE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—Nine men were ordered held for the grand jury by the coroner's jury, which brought in a verdict tonight in connection with the collapse of the building; the Knickerbocker Motion Picture theater Jan. 28, resulting in the death of ninety-eight persons.

The nine men, all of Washington, were R. G. Geare, the architect of the building; J. H. Ford, the engineer who designed the roof structure; Morris Hacker, building inspector when the theater was constructed; Frank L. Wagner, the builder; Donald Wallace, general superintendent of construction; R. G. Fletcher, superintendent of the Hammett Fireproofing company, which built the walls; John L. McDonald, the contractor who erected the steel; Thos. L. Costigan, engineer and computer for the District of Columbia building department, who passed on the plans; and Julian R. Downman, the assistant building inspector when the building was constructed.

control of congress in 1919 it proceeded to reduce appropriations of the Wilson administration for the last year by $1,500,000,000. It also repealed war appropriations aggregating more than $8,000,000,000 and continued to reduce them until for the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1922, the appropriations stood at $3,909,000,000.

Discusses Foreign Debt.
Speaking of the bill for the funding of the debt, Senator Lodge said: "The United States has no intention of playing the part of a usurer, but it was the money of the American people which was lent to the allied and associated powers in their time of greatest need. The debts which the United States owed to those powers she has paid in cash and has questioned none of them."

Praises Work of G. O. P.
The Republican party, since it last came into power, has made a record in international and domestic accomplishment by which it may ask the country to "stand without fear or misgiving," Senator Lodge said. "I know," he continued, "I am speaking within bounds when I say that no congress in time of peace has ever shown such an amount of important, effective and remedial legislation as has been enacted by the present congress since it has been in session."

"The Republicans found the worst situation economically which any party in this country had ever been called upon to face and we have a right to be proud of our record. When the Republican party gained

NORTHWESTERN MEN ALARMED, BAN EFFEMINACY

Form Club of 'He-Men,' Hard Boiled.

The Northwestern university chapter—Beta chapter—of the "Anti-Effeminacy club," modeled after that installed lately at Columbia, came into being yesterday afternoon with the election of Kenneth King of Denver, Colo., a junior in the School of Commerce and a Sigma Chi, as president.

The anti-effeminists are not, as might be gathered from their title, an organization of women-haters. They appreciate their sister-students. But they want to get as far away from feminine garb, feminine habits, feminine follies as possible.

Make Their Boast.
A quotation from the constitution and by-laws is: "Whereas," it says, "women are smoking cigarettes, wearing goloshes, both buckled and unbuckled, and otherwise presuming into realms heretofore restricted to men only."

"Be it resolved that we, the Beta chapter of the Anti-Effeminacy club, shall shun and otherwise lay off the habits of the lounge-lizard and the arm-chair Napoleon."

To quote from the by-laws: "No. 3. Each member must equip himself with one [1] pipe, corn cob, briar, or clay."

No Powder After Shave.
"No. 6. Powdering the face after shaving, an effeminate practice, shall be punishable with a fine, of not more than $200 for the first offense."

"No. 6. Wasp waisted suits, bell-bottomed trousers, decollete collars, and baby ribbon neckties, bobbed hair, and goloshes of any species are expressly forbidden. Violation of Rule No. 6 shall be punishable by death."

Karl Steinkamp, tobaccoist whose shop university men patronize, announced yesterday a great decrease in the sale of cigars, and a corresponding increase in the sale of pipes.

FIVED FOR INSULTING WOMAN.
Grover E. Hopkins, a glass manufacturer and importer living at the Morrison hotel, was fined $5 and costs in the South Clark street court yesterday on a charge of insulting conduct. It was said he had insulted a woman. Hopkins charged the house detective who arrested him stole $85 from him

LAWYER OBTAINS DIVORCE, TELLS OF HER DESERTION

"We did not understand each other and our home life was a series of misunderstandings," Attorney Seymour N. Cohen told Judge Charles A. McDonald in the Superior court yesterday, where he was granted a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Louise G. Cohen.

The attorney told the court they had been married seven months when his wife deserted him. They were married in June, 1919, and the following January Mrs. Cohen left him, he said. Shortly after their separation two years ago Mrs. Cohen filed suit against her husband in which she charged him with having an affair with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Griesbach. Mr. Cohen denied the allegations and later the suit was dismissed.

PETITIONS ASSAIL 'PROPAGANDA' OF MEDICAL SOCIETY

Petitions charging the press with publishing medical propaganda as news matter and thus doing great injustice to those who believe the public health can be conserved just as efficaciously without drugs are being widely circulated in Chicago. Circulators of the petitions contend that the American Medical association is endeavoring to control the health of the people and drive out all competitive methods through laws, courts, and the public newspapers.

In the United States at least half of the 100,000,000 people do not depend on drugs or medicine to preserve or regain their health, the petition states. On the contrary, they resort to physical culture, Christian Science, chiropractic, osteopathy, or other forms of drugless healing.

A series of these petitions signed by 650 persons was received by this Tribune yesterday.

GUNS OF HOLDUP MEN CONTINUE TO TERRORIZE CITY

Loot of the Night Totals More than $24,000.

Loot aggregating more than $24,000 was obtained by holdup men last night in a revival of Chicago's crime wave.

Among the victims were an oil man, who lost $13,000 in money, notes and jewelry, a theater which lost its safe and $2,500 in cash and a jewelry store which is minus $5,000 worth of stock. James B. Brassfield, 655 Buena avenue, an oil man with offices in the Everett hotel, was driving home with his wife and a chauffeur. Two masked men in an automobile followed them. When the party arrived at the Brassfield home, the two bandits left their cars. Both had guns. They took a $2,500 stickpin, a $2,800 diamond ring, $5,000 in notes and $15 in cash from Mr. Brassfield, according to his story to the police. Mrs. Brassfield yielded a $3,000 diamond ring.

Trio Rob Jewelry Store.
Alfred Kahn and Ralph Goodman, proprietors of a jewelry store at 2450 Lincoln avenue, were just closing up their store last night when three thugs paid them a visit. Both men were tied up while the bandits turned out the lights and leisurely ransacked the safe, taking $5,000 worth of jewelry and $28 in cash. Goodman, releasing himself a moment after their exit, pursued the thieves with an automatic pistol. He didn't catch them.

Robbers with a heavy truck invaded the box office of the Gary theater and carried away the safe. Inside was $2,500 in cash. Police have no clew. A safe in the office of J. Wipman & Co., commission merchants, 734 West Randolph street, was broken open and $1,000 taken. The safe door had been jammed from the hinges.

"Flivver" Yegs Hold Up Druggist.
Three yegs in a flivver held up the Roberts drug store, 1238 East 53rd street and got $100. Meanwhile, the police were not inactive. John Shanahan, 3709 South Halsted street, was arrested by Policeman James Mosca of the South Clark street station as one of three burglars

LEGION TO BE ASKED TO STOP ITS WEEKLY ADVERTISING GUNS

The executive committee of the American Legion, department of Illinois, is to be asked to pass a resolution barring advertisements of small arms in the American Legion Weekly. It was announced yesterday by De Witt Cleland, executive committeeman in the Fourth district.

with whom the officer had a pistol duel early Monday morning.

Herman Allen, 17 year old "two gun man" of Chicago, New York and Detroit, was arrested yesterday afternoon by the Hyde Park police. He was carrying two army automatic pistols. Half an hour later he had confessed to fifteen robberies, had been identified by nine victims and is believed to have perpetrated more than 100 separate burglaries.

Pawn tickets for jewelry valued at more than $50,000 were found on him. He escaped three months ago from the St. Charles School for Boys.

Boys Booked as Auto Thieves.
Edward Sigmuntowski, 1719 North Tallman avenue; Max Kozaneski, 2325 North Hoyne avenue; Stephen Kowatowski, 1133 North Robey street, and Leo Leszczynski, 1454 West Division street—all ranging from 14 to 18 years old—were booked as automobile thieves. Walter Kilish, 1520 Elk Grove avenue, was booked as receiving stolen property. The first four are believed by police to have committed numerous burglaries in addition to automobile thefts.

Frank Stanish, 1717 South Jefferson street, Clarence Wood, of the Moose hotel, Charles van Wina, 44 West Ohio street, an investigator for the Citizens' association and Clarence Steinbach, 2240 Clifton avenue, are held as the passers of more than $5,000 worth of checks stolen from the Tablet & Ticket company, 1017 West Adams street, a few weeks ago.

Frank Yrehell, 13 years old, 8021 Cornell avenue, and Frank Simons, 15, 8031 Union avenue, were arrested by the Gresham police and $450 worth of loot recovered from an abandoned barn. The boys confessed to two burglaries, the police said.

Charges of robbery with a gun will be preferred against Mr. and Mrs. John Garry, 937 Belden avenue, following the capture of Mrs. Garry during an attempted holdup of the grocery store of O. W. Smith, 949 Webster avenue, police announced.

The city council of Peoria, Ill., yesterday considered an ordinance making the minimum fine for gun toting $100.

U. S. SUSPENDS CLINNIN AFTER HE ASKS INQUIRY

Trouble with Courts Cause of Action.

that he himself initiated the Flowers bootlegging case, which was one of the issues that brought on the Clinnin troubles, and that he was inclined to go to the bottom of the whole matter; rather than to let it pass to the grand jury method. However, Judge Landis said he would take the petition under advisement.

Col. Clinnin, in the opening paragraph of his petition, justified his action on the ground that "matters have recently been presented here in open court and given the widest publicity which tend not only to cast suspicion upon the personal and official integrity of your petitioner but which, unfortunately, tend as well to destroy the belief and confidence of the public in the efficient, honest, and impartial administration of our federal statutes."

The petition then asks the court to "summon and impanel a special grand jury, to which shall be referred the duty diligently to inquire into your petitioner's conduct in office and to inquire further into all matters which may be brought before them touching the enforcement of law and the handling of cases in this district, such investigation to be conducted and in charge of some special attorney to be selected by this court."

Wants "No Bill" Cases Probed. Specific inquiry was asked of "no bills" returned, particularly in liquor cases, and the reasons therefor, and "into cases nolle prossed and dismissed and into reported violations of law which have never been presented to a grand jury and the ground for action or inaction in such cases."

After quoting a report recently read in congress in which liquor law enforcement conditions in Chicago were criticized, the petition asks "whether, in fact, certain lawyers have received information in advance of cases to be brought, or even collected fees in advance for the defense of prospective defendants" and why the courts are crowded with petty offenders while wholesale violations of the law remain unchecked.

"What has become of the so-called 'big cases' that have from time to time been the subject of investigation?" the petition asks. "Have these cases all been without merit, or have other considerations halted further proceedings therein?"

"Have attorneys who are not of record in the case, and have never appeared in any of the preliminary proceedings, secured the disposition of cases in court for unusual fees, without notice to or the knowledge of the attorney of record, and, if so, what considerations have induced such change of attorneys?"

Names a "Lead" in Inquiry. Promises that starting testimony in an investigation could be procured from Col. A. C. Earnshaw, head of the special intelligence unit of the revenue department, were made by Col. Clinnin. Col. Earnshaw was said recently to have declared that of sixty-four cases prepared by him on violations of the prohibition law only four have yet reached court.

While District Attorney Charles F. Clyne was not mentioned in either the petition or the accompanying statement, it was generally felt in the federal building that Col. Clinnin's charges were directed against his superior. When asked if he had any statement to make, Mr. Clyne answered: "I have nothing to say—yet."

THREE CLINNIN CASES

The three instances in which Col. Clinnin was "called on the carpet" by judges occurred last week. He was called into open court on Feb. 8 by Federal Judge Evan A. Evans, and asked to explain the reason for his writing a letter to a stockholder in the Cooperative Society of America—the Harrison M. Parker enterprise—in which he announced that the "society was not under investigation by the government." For this he was publicly reprimanded by Judge Evans.

Judge Evans informed Col. Clinnin that Judge Landis had ordered an investigation be conducted by the district attorney's office and he, the judge, would like to know why Col. Clinnin should write such a letter. Col. Clinnin's explanation later is understood to have placated the judge.

The Flowers Case.

Last Thursday Judge Landis ordered Col. Clinnin and Meyer Linker, former assistant district attorney, into court following a confession on the part of Walter B. Flowers, colored waiter on an Alton train, that he had paid $1,300 to have a case against him for violation of the prohibition law "fixed." Flowers said he paid the money to Sam McGowan, colored clerk in the county recorder's office. McGowan told Judge Landis that he had been paid the money by Flowers and in return had arranged matters in the federal building so that the federal grand jury returned a no bill against Flowers when the case was presented to the grand jury. He said he had "seen" Col. Clinnin and Mr. Linker several days before the no bill was returned. Col. Clinnin denied he had moved for a no bill; that he only sought to have the case rushed as a favor to McGowan, whom he had known in the national guard.

One Case Nolle Prossed.

Col. Clinnin was called before Judge Landis for the third time when the jurist ordered him into open court to explain why the case of Thomas L. Latta, Jerry J. Hassell, and Fred A. Feller, proprietors of a printing shop on Plymouth court, charged with obstructing a deputy marshal from serving a subpoena for Latta, had been nolle prossed.

Mr. Linker told the court he had been requested to act by an attorney, and, with the consent of Col. Clinnin, had had the case nolle prossed.

TAYLOR "CLEWS" BUNK, BUNK, BUNK, WOOLWINE SAYS

Absolutely No Evidence, Prosecutor Admits.

BY EDWARD DOHERTY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Miss Mabel Normand, screen star and devoted friend of William Desmond Taylor, is still linked to the investigation into Taylor's murder.

It had been reported that Mabel had received back from the district attorney's office the "Blessed Baby" letters she had written to Taylor; that she was freed entirely from the case. Not so. District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine late today issued the following statement: "I understand that the press has carried a story to the effect that the letters of Miss Mabel Normand have been returned to her, when, as a matter of fact, such letters are still in my possession."

Mack Sennett Is Questioned. The statement avers that "these letters are not in any manner significant of anything in relation to the Taylor murder, and there is absolutely nothing in them that throws any light upon the case."

However, Mr. Woolwine did not see fit to explain why, there being no significance in the letters, he chose to retain them.

It was learned late today, too, that Mack Sennett, one of Mabel's oldest friends, has been questioned about the Taylor case.

Mr. Woolwine, a chum of the famous comedian, refused to talk about this matter; would not admit and would not deny that he had discussed the case with Sennett.

A bootlegger today told a local reporter that on the night of Feb. 1 he was about to deliver some liquor to the Taylor home. As he turned the corner, walking into some bushes, he heard a shot and saw a woman leave the house. He left the spot hurriedly. His auto clock showed it was exactly three minutes of 8, a few minutes after Miss Normand had said good-by to Taylor.

The bootlegger repeated the yarn to the district attorney, but made a little change. He told Mr. Woolwine it was not he himself who had seen the woman, but a friend of his named Sennett. It was one of his men. None of the authorities believe a woman fired the shot, but they admit it is possible a woman was present at the time.

A Sea Cap'n's Yarn.

There have been 549 different theories—more or less—regarding the crime, to date. But every incoming mail adds to the total.

One came in from San Francisco late this afternoon. A retired sea captain, bedad, walking along the tracks meets a couple of tramps and learns that Sands—the missing valet of Taylor—has hired them to slay his master. The cap'n had not waited until Sands arrived. He wasn't taking any chances.

"Bunk, bunk, bunk!" Woolwine says he is dizzy.

"I feel like a durn fool," he said today. "I can't see a thing. The case admits of so many plausible theories. There is absolutely no evidence against any one. There is positively not a glew. I never experienced such a thing."

Mabel Normand is reported still sick in bed. Her room is filled with flowers. Her maid has been busy all day reading the mail. Everybody is con- doling with her, it seems.

Mabel said this afternoon that she was willing to start a huge sum to be paid as a reward to the man who captures the slayer.

The Famous Players-Lasky corporation announced today that it would pay $2,500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Taylor's slayer.

'Mary Blue' London Rage; Princess Favors the Shade

LONDON, Feb. 14.—[United Press.]—"Mary blue" is the rage in England as Princess Mary's wedding day approaches. The color is favored by the princesses. It is now used extensively for hair wreaths, afternoon frocks and ribbons. Dyeing houses are doing a rushing business changing hydrangea shades and cyclamen to Mary blue.

The shade is a soft sage, sometimes called aquamarine, that suits blue eyed women and accentuates the depth of their eyes.

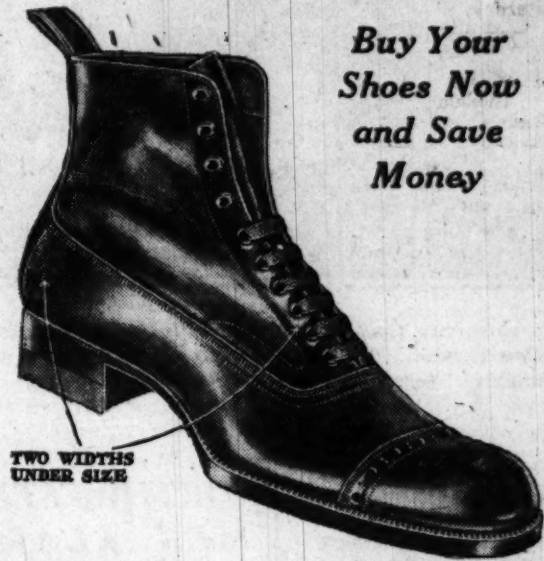

J. Ham Lewis in Berlin After Some Reparations

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] BERLIN, Feb. 14.—J. Ham Lewis, Chicago's pink whiskered celebrity, is now intriguing in Berlin political circles. J. Ham had a minute interview with Foreign Minister Rathenau today.

"See me tomorrow—I have a political crisis on for today. The government may fall, and I do not know where I am at," Dr. Rathenau told the former senator.

The former senator's mission to Europe is to try to arrange reparations for his clients, Americans, who suffered losses in France and Belgium during the war and who do not want to get their money from these governments, but want Germany to pay them direct.

LOVE NOTES TO MADELYNN FROM KENNEDY READ

Slain Man's Letters Are Identified by Father.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 14.—[Special.]
The court is no respecter of persons, nor does it provide an open bazaar for the reading of old love letters. Love letters that were written in the dawn of a boy and girl affair are now the "people's exhibit." The terms of endearment are read coldly, precisely by judicial lips.

Here is Madelyn Obenchain fighting for her life. And there are the letters written to her by the man whom she is charged with plotting to murder—J. Belton Kennedy.

What are her thoughts as the "Dear Madelyn" and "My Dear" letters are read to the jury?

She sits so still, so languid, scarcely seeming to hear the words that were once of course so familiar to her.

Kennedy's Dad Identifies Notes.
The letters were read for the first time today. They were identified by J. D. Kennedy, father of the slain man, who testified he found them in his son's safety deposit box. They were dated before the marriage of Madelyn to Ralph Obenchain, during the years she vacillated in her feelings for the two men.

Only once did Mrs. Obenchain's expression change during the reading of Kennedy's letters. He spoke of San Francisco as the "city of dark roses" and hoped that she and he would soon be "out of the darkness," themselves. Then a tear slipped down her cheek and on to the folds of her dark dress.

Ralph Obenchain, her former husband, sat staring at during the night-marish re-living of the love of Belton Kennedy for Madelyn.

The Love Letters.
The letters follow:
March 4, 1918—"Dear Madelyn:—I am sending you your little certificate but it will be necessary for you to be identified at the bank. I should like you to meet a friend of mine during your peaceful sojourn in Frisco. But I do hope you will soon return. You are in the city of darkness now, Madelyn. Don't forget Los Angeles or Garvansa 1016. Love, (Signed) Belton."

"Sunday, May 6, Dear Madelyn: I thought you would be better pleased if I waited for a word from you before writing myself. Dear Madelyn, I think of you every day. When I have the blues I wonder if you are blue, too. BELTON."

"Unter der Linden: Me hand is not temperamental as before. I am indeed very happy you are so much better. We will soon be eating our breakfast together and calling on who writes for the movies. This noted author called me up to go to see her, but I didn't go. We both do. BELTON."

MISS OLGA LIHME.

The Junior League has changed its membership requirements from ordinary election to holding entrance examinations. Miss Letts, Miss Higginson, and Miss Lihme were among the successful candidates for membership of the last "class," it was announced yesterday.

BRAINS CONQUER BLUE BLOOD IN JUNIOR LEAGUE

Would-Be Members Now Take "Exams."

No longer is there a royal road, nor a financial highway, nor even an aristocratic boulevard to membership in the Junior League, one of the city's most fashionable organizations, composed of 300 of Chicago's "four hundred," and all of them young women. According to the new rules, mother's maiden name and father's check book rate nothing. Membership depends upon brain cells, a notebook, and a conscience.

Organized for the avowed purpose of doing social service work, the directors of the league believe the members should do social service work. And if a club is only as zealous as its most slothful sister, something must be done.

Get Preliminary Hazard.
So this year, in order to sort out the black sheep from those of lighter hue, the governing board determined to prevent the drones from entering and staged an elimination contest as a preliminary hazard. The system of election was changed.

Formerly a prospective member, having had her name proposed by one member and indorsed by two others, began to write her acceptance, for election at the board meeting was "practically automatic." It was asserted.

But the old order changeth. In place of monthly board meetings, Miss Annette Washburne, president of the league, inaugurated a series of lectures, examinations, and records.

All Pass Examination.
Under the direction of Mrs. Earle H. Reynolds, lectures on social service subjects were held at the Ambassador hotel Thursday mornings during December and January.

The "provisionals," explained one of the league's officers yesterday, "were quizzed by the lecturer at the conclusion of each meeting. The passing mark was 70, and many of the pupils came mighty close to the line. But nobody flunked."

Forty-two candidates started the course. Twenty-eight successful candidates will attend an initiation meeting tomorrow afternoon at the home of Miss Washburne, 1235 Astor street. The difference between forty-two and twenty-eight, the league officers explain, is accounted for by the fact that failure to attend two or more of the lectures made the offender forfeit her right to take the examinations.

Among the new members are the following debutantes: Miss Carroll Clarke, Miss Virginia Cooke, Miss Lee Higginson, Miss Bertha Honoré, Miss Hollis Letts, Miss Olga Lihme, Miss Elizabeth Mitze, and Miss Mary Wegg.

YARROW TAKES ANOTHER RAP AT "IMPURE MOVIES"

The movies, the censor board, and the city administration were the objects of the wrath of Philip Yarrow, field superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, at a purity conference held last night, during which he charged them with corrupting the morals of the rising generation.

"The censor board has a very twisted moral conception of its duties," he said, "when it passes such degrading exhibitions as bed scenes, illicit love plots, and semi-nudity. The movies are molding the character of the youth of America, and, when children see in the movies an actress naked from the waist up, with a few beads hiding nothing, they are robbed of their sense of modesty."

GOVIER, HUNTING PLUMS, MENACES HI COST BUREAU

Poole Defies Plan to Hire "Boys."

A political tempest almost twisted the city council high cost of living committee loose from its foundations yesterday and may blow it out of the city hall before the week is out. The tempest raged from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m.

It started when Ald. Sheldon W. Govier, chairman of the committee, appeared at the office of the secretary, Russell J. Poole, at 9 a. m. and announced that he "wanted" the jobs of the bureau's five investigators. He said he would be in with "the boys" from his ward, the Ninth, tomorrow morning and that he wanted them put to work.

Mr. Poole came back by declaring that he would not be a party to "wasting" the committee's $20,000 appropriation by spending it "to train laborers from the Pullman shops to become food experts."

"I'm not running a kindergarten here. I've got to have real investigators if I'm going to get results," he declared. "The bureau has made good and I'm not going to allow any one to spoil its record."

With the exception of investigators "jammed" on the pay roll by Ald. Govier most of the "help" has been obtained by advertising in the newspapers, the secretary asserted.

"I'm chairman and I'm running the bureau," Govier shouted.

"I'll resign before I'll make this place into a job factory," Poole replied. "I'll be back Thursday with the boys from my ward," said Govier, as he hurried out.

First Assistant Corporation Counsel James W. Breen ruled that $13,860 of the $20,000 appropriation may be spent only by Mr. Poole. Pay rolls signed by Govier will not be O. K'd. by the city controller, he said.

Ald. Govier heard of that and he hurried to Mr. Breen.

"If I can't run it I'll have the whole bureau abolished at the next council meeting," he declared.

"Go ahead," said Mr. Breen.

We will be a co-operative company in every sense of the word. Our directors are men of unquestioned business standing and experience.

Every cab we operate is owned by the man at the wheel. One hundred picked men, courteous, vigorous and determined to win your confidence by loyal public service, have banded together, to operate under our management, and we will not deny that the drivers of BLACK & WHITE cabs own their cars. We are proud of this fact and urge this as evidence of our drivers' responsibility. The drivers have financial backing enough to be worthy of your confidence and respect. The BLACK & WHITE CAB CO. stands behind every taxicab operating under its franchise.

The liability on each cab will be fully covered by a ten thousand dollar insurance policy in the Zurich General Accident & Liability Insurance Company, Ltd.

Black & White Cab Co.

THIS IS THE ONLY CO-OPERATIVE TAXICAB COMPANY IN CHICAGO WHICH HAS SECURED INSURANCE IN AN OLD LINE COMPANY, WHICH ASSURES OUR PATRONS THE FINEST PROTECTION OBTAINABLE.

Each cab will be fully insured and will be modern, sanitary, warm and comfortable, and manned by experienced, courteous men. Try our brand of safe and sane driving.

We know that there is room for such a company as ours to expand along co-operative lines and feel assured the public will encourage us and give us a chance to prove ourselves.

Accurate taxi meters on each of our cabs guarantee the BLACK & WHITE rates to be as low as any in the city: 20c for the first half-mile and 10c for each half-mile thereafter, with a charge of 20c for each extra passenger for the entire trip.

Your first Ontra meal will start your lasting good will

MANY an Ontra patron has said that his first Ontra meal was a pleasant surprise. Here your greatest expectations are more than fulfilled by those extra refinements that bring new enjoyment to meal-time cheer.

In ever-growing numbers Chicago men and women are accepting Miss Dutton's invitation to eat at the Ontra. They enjoy here, in pleasant surroundings and at very moderate cost, the choicest of good food, appetizingly prepared.

At the Ontra you cannot fail to appreciate the neatness and cleanliness, the orderly arrangement, the cheerful spirit that prevails. Readily you will recognize that completeness of accommodation which has made the Ontra Cafeterias famous and won for them their unique place among the largest and most popular institutions of their kind in America.

It is now twelve years since Miss Dutton started the first Ontra, with accommodations for 96 people. Now at the two Ontras 1,200 people can be served at one time. During 1921 the two places were patronized by 2,371,308 well-satisfied persons.

PRESIDENT MAY HOLD UP PLANS FOR BONUS ACT

Congressional Bodies to Get His Views Today.

under pressure of war responsibilities it was possible to raise any amount of money, but that the same conditions do not exist now. The bonus question was again a subject of debate in the senate today.

Senator King of Utah, Democrat, flayed Republican leaders for their vacillating attitude on the question and chided them for running to President Harding with their troubles.

That "Rubber Stamp" Again. "I recall," said Senator King, "that it was not very long ago that our Republican friends were denouncing the Democratic party for its subservience to President Wilson. It was charged that we were rubber stamps. Where is the boasted independence of the Republican leaders and the Republican party today?"

"This brave and courageous Republican majority is afraid to act. It does not dare act in the daylight and it is afraid to act in the darkness. And it is shuffling upon the executive the entire responsibility of formulating bonus action."

"They are afraid of the farmer vote if they impose a certain line of taxes. They are afraid of the business man's vote if they lay taxes upon certain commodities or upon certain lines of business. They are afraid of the soldier vote if they do not respond to the apparent demands of a large number of former service men. They are afraid of their shadows. They are afraid to act."

"Confessing their impotency they go hat in hand on bended knee and beg the president to help them out of their dilemma."

1—American occupation of the Virgin Islands is said to be a not unimpaired blessing. Schools and other public works have been established, but prohibition has been applied, which ruined the best business. The islands were used as ports of call by passing ships. The natives of the islands are reported to be agitating for more civil liberties.

2—Most of the ships which formerly brought prosperity to the Virgin Islands now go to Curacao, which is ruled by the Dutch and is wet.

U.S. Buy Canadian Land on St. Lawrence, Bill Urges

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—Purchase by the United States of all Canadian territory south and east of the St. Lawrence river and the center of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, with the right to develop and utilize half of the water power from the river, is proposed in a resolution introduced today by Representative Ten Eyck, Democrat, New York. The measure said that payments due the United States on the British debt be placed on the purchase price. "The St. Lawrence river is a natural boundary line," the resolution stated, "and the interests of the government of Canada and the United States are mutual in its utilization."

EVEN THE VIRGIN ISLANDS WANT BACK THEIR RUM

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, Feb. 14.—The American regime in the Virgin Islands is proving a mixed blessing. While public health and education have taken long strides forward, the application of American laws, particularly prohibition, has given a severe blow to the business of the islands, and the people are talking of starving and bankruptcy.

Many inhabitants of this tiny island depend for their livelihood on the port business, and this has almost stopped since congress extended the Volstead act so as to be operative here. During last month alone 135 ships are said to have been diverted to the wet Dutch port of Curacao. The bay rum industry has been hit a hard blow, too. A local writer has nicknamed the island "the sick Virgin of the Caribbean."

Gov. S. E. W. Kittelle has just published the prohibition proclamation, and the people are organizing a protest to Washington. In point of fact they are not citizens of the United States and are not subject to the other parts of the constitution. Also, they have nothing else to turn to, as the land is poor and hilly and is subject to drought. Saloons and drunkenness have never been an evil here, and the rum trade brought ships.

In the days before the war all the fleets of the world used to call here for shore liberty. Now there is nothing in the harbor save a few tramps. The population of the islands consists of about 8,000 African Negroes, a sprinkling of Danes, who still control the chief businesses, and American mariners and sailors, who administer the affairs of the islands.

Our $25,000,000 Harbor. Charlotte Amalie harbor, which cost the United States $25,000,000 to keep the Germans from securing it for use as a naval base, is the best harbor in the West Indies on the outer trade route to the Panama canal. The harbor is deep, is well fortified, and makes an impregnable submarine base. The port has not been developed as a naval base, although there is a fair supply of coal on hand for bunkering, and there are electric cranes, and the shipping board maintains an oil station. There is a small floating dock and a repair shop.

The island is in sight of Porto Rico and is a night's run from the French stronghold at Martinique. Politically, the natives are agitating for more power, but they say they do not want independence, as they like the protection of the American flag and American institutions, especially schools, hospitals, and sanitation. St. Thomas could be made into a splendid winter health resort, but it cannot compete with the British, French, and Dutch ports while the blue laws and too strict navigation regulations are in effect.

Burden to U. S. The island will be a constant burden to the United States financially. The natives are asking for a new organic law with general suffrage. Suffrage and many other laws are still Danish, being based on Danish qualifications. About 600 voters elect a half of the island council. The other half is appointed, as is done in the British crown colony system. Now the inhabitants want an upper and a lower house, made up of natives. Also they are asking for a bill of rights, an appellate court, a delegate to Washington, and American citizenship.

CARDINALS PUT AMERICAN VOTE UP TO PIUS XI.

Poll Shows Papal Bull May Be Expected.

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

ROME, Feb. 14.—For the first time in history a straw vote has been attempted among the members of the Roman Catholic church, which is composed of the princes of the Roman Catholic church.

The poll was made on the question of convening future papal conclaves at such an interval after the death of a pope as to allow the cardinals from the western hemisphere to attend and vote on the new pope.

The cardinals of the western hemisphere and of Australia have not been able to make the long trip to Rome in time to take part in the election of a pope because conclaves now are convened ten days after the pope is dead.

Addresses of Cardinals.
In the first place for the poll the Vatican itself did not have a list of the attending cardinals' addresses in Rome, but the Tribune's correspondents assembled this only existing list by a hurried canvass of the priests of the colleges representing each country in the world. One cardinal's address was an ancient monastery, where he lived in an old monastery.

The addresses of the cardinals obtained. The Tribune's correspondents augmented this force of three correspondents by fifteen Italian assistants, and at the same time six Italian stenographers prepared the typewritten ballots for the straw vote and the letters accompanying them.

The result of the historical polling indicates no rush of feeling on the part of the sacred college to endorse the encyclicals proposed.

Cardinals Avoid Answer.
Of the forty-nine cardinals not answered in the affirmative or negative to indicate whether or not he favored American representation at the conclave.

Only four of the cardinals answered either by filling out the ballot or by writing of any kind. Of these four none expressed an opinion other than to state the question was an interesting one or that it was beyond their competence to answer or that they desired time for contemplation before answering.

Regrets from French Cardinals.
Cardinal Maun from Lyons, Cardinal Laon from Reims, Cardinal Andrieu from Bordeaux, and Cardinal Kowalski from Warsaw expressed their regrets that they could not answer.

"Buy your clothes in this store where only good clothes are sold."

WE'RE BACKING

BOY SCOUTS
1922 CAMPAIGN BEGINNING FEBRUARY 15th

TO CONTINUE the existence of the Boy Scout movement here $90,000 is required, and today the Chicago council will launch a drive to secure that amount. The Association of Commerce subscription investigating committee has endorsed the campaign.

"Boyhood is the only source of manhood" is the motto of those in charge of the drive. They are: Howard F. Gillette, president; Harold F. McCormick, Julius Rosenwald, Noble B. Judah, R. T. Crane Jr., W. R. Abbott, and P. D. Armour, vice presidents; Charles S. Dewey, Leroy T. Steward, scout commissioners; T. T. Sullivan, T. W. Brophy, Guy Charnsey, O. F. Reich, W. S. Hall, district chairman, and John D. Black, campaign chairman.

The three Spanish cardinals in Rome—Soldevila, Benloch, and Barrague—reserved the right to answer in the near future. The Italian cardinals equally refused to commit themselves.

Cardinals Gasparri and Merry del Val would not receive the letters. Other foreign cardinals, including those from America and Canada, whose position was not a matter for conjecture, regarded a direct statement on the question as a violation of the accepted code which requires suggestions for papal constitutional changes must emanate from the pope through the "papal bull."

O'Connell Keeps Silence.
Cardinal O'Connell himself, who was most interested in the question after his spectacular race and to whom the pope promised he would use his influence to bring the desired change, stated through his secretary it would be impossible for him to sign the ballot.

The result of the Tribune straw poll of the sacred college now places the question firmly up to the pope, who has the right by "papal bull" to take immediate action on a change in the church constitution. The last pope availing himself of this prerogative was Pius X., whose election resulted from the Austrian emperor's veto of Cardinal Rampolla. Pius X. ruled against any future vetoes.

DIES OF HEART DISEASE.
Joseph R. Elliott, 75 years old, 820 Cass street, died on the way to the Polytechnic hospital yesterday after he had been taken ill on the street. Heart disease is believed the cause of death.

JUDGES ATTACK POLICE DANCE CURFEW RULING

Two judges of the Superior court yesterday questioned the legality of the police ruling that the "zero hour" at which dancing and music becomes a public nuisance in restaurants is 1 o'clock in the morning.

Judge Denis E. Sullivan, in referring the petition of the Sunset club for an injunction to a master in chancery, indicated he would grant the injunction and declared the police had authority to abate but not to regulate an alleged nuisance.

"If it is a nuisance it must be stopped," said the court, "but in such a case the policeman cannot stand at the door and constitute himself a judge and jury."

Police Sergeant Edward J. Owens of the Wabash avenue station told Judge

Hugo M. Friend at the hearing of the Lorraine Gardens' suit for an injunction against the police department, that he had seen no disorder or questionable dancing at that café during his nightly visits there for three months.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Albert Veeder, representing the city in both cases, maintained however, that dancing and music became a public nuisance if continued after 1 o'clock in the morning.

Judge Friend ruled that the chief of police had no authority under the law to prohibit music and dancing at any hour of the day or night in respectable places.

BACHELORS' ATTENTION!
Joseph Grieb, 2001 South Halsted street, married on Sunday, celebrated and was arrested on Monday and yesterday was discharged in the Maxwell street court on a $1000 bond.

To Our Own Hydrox-Guernsey Agencies

THE HYDROX COMPANY FEBRUARY 15, 1922

For the Public to Read

WE think it is only fair to you, our Agencies, that the public should know these facts:

First, that you are paying more to give your customers Hydrox-Guernsey Ice Cream than you would have to pay for any of the many commercial ice creams made in Chicago.

Second, that you must be doing this because you are interested in giving your customers the purest Ice Cream made.

You druggists, especially, know that the only way to prevent the dangerous multiplication of bacteria in ice cream is through the carbonating process.

You also know that every gallon of Hydrox-Guernsey Ice Cream is carbonated. And that must be one of the reasons why you are buying it for your customers. The other reason, of course, must be because Hydrox-Guernsey is the richest, most delicious ice cream made.

Now, it so happens, that there are many hundreds of you good dealers doing this for your customers in Chicago. And that speaks mightily well for the character of dealer in this big city.

These are facts which we think the public has a right to know.

HYDROX COMPANY

Do You Know What Your Name Means?

Wide interest in the meanings of names, shown by the large number of entries in THE TRIBUNE's lucky horoscope casting contest, has led to an innovation. Day by day an alphabetical list of given or Christian names with their meanings, will be published in this column.

Watch for your name. It has a special meaning.

The Romans had a motto, "bonum nomen bonum omen," meaning, "A good name is a good omen."

Ever since the first man was named some particular significance has been attached to names.

For some particular reason, you were given the name you bear. It may have been some incident connected with the lives of your parents.

It may express some quality of your mind or body. It may indicate the hopes for you your parents held when they so named you. And it may be you were named for a loved relative.

Our names are not picked at random. It was chosen for a reason. See what it means.

THE CONDITIONS

1. The Chicago Tribune Horoscope privilege is open to every one except Tribune employees and their families. It does not matter where you live.

2. You may submit as many names as you wish. Your name or the name of any relative or friend may be submitted any day of every day. Use separate blanks for each horoscope.

3. Full details must be given as noted on the horoscope blank. You may use the blank or write on a separate sheet of paper of the same size.

4. Write name in full. If you are a married woman use your first name, your maiden name and your husband's name. For example:

MARY BROWN SMITH
If you are a divorcee, use the name you now use. If you have only two names, such as John Smith, draw line through "Middle Name."

Horoscope blanks should be addressed to "Doris Blake," The Chicago Tribune, 7 South Dearborn St., Chicago, Illinois.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR CHICAGO

1—Build the Subway Now.

"BUDDY, JOIN THE LEGION"

Japan has a motto. It is the motto of the otomanism of the present. Uncle Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, is a man of much property. You hear that he is second or third in point of personal wealth in the United States.

Uncle Andrew Mellon is head of the American genus. President Harding merely comes up from somewhere but Uncle Andrew Mellon always existed because what he represents and what he thinks always has existed.

The elder statesmen are against the soldier bonus. Uncle Andrew is against it because the war is over and all the values which were in danger and which have been saved are now out of danger. The soldier is an uneconomic force except when he is needed to preserve the balance and the working power of economic force. They are badly disturbed when a foreign governor general takes control of an occupied territory.

There are ordinary laws of economic cause and effect go out of office and the soldier is the boy relied upon to keep the home land functioning as it ought to function normally. When he is needed for this economic purpose he is invaluable because without him all values would go to pot.

If the German soldier had been able to carry through the plans of the German military leaders the German mark would not be a beggar on the door step of financial solvency and if he had been able to do the "super human" which was required of him, Uncle Andrew Mellon's fortune might be barely equal to a square meal.

The difference between the value of the dollar and the value of the mark is now the sacrifice made by the American soldier. He created that value. If he had not done so it would have no value. The only reason these men of wealth have wealth is because American soldiers determined that depreciated currency should be in Germany and not in the United States.

To whom would Uncle Andrew like to pay a small percentage of his money? To the American soldier who saved him from the German tax collector or to the tax collector? Buddy, join the Legion, as your father joined the G. A. R. and impress as a political fact upon the elder generation that it is in luck and much in luck.

SHIPS AND MEN.

Mr. Denby, secretary of the navy, is imploring congress to have a brain. The United States, Great Britain, Japan, Italy and France have agreed upon a relative tonnage of battleships. For the limit of steel construction. It is a limit placed upon the most obvious way of obtaining and maintaining supremacy upon the seas, where nations live or die.

It is a limit placed upon the obvious. It is an emphasis placed upon the human factor. For the life of this agreement, and long thereafter, supremacy will exist in the human element. The best direction, the best invention, the best training will produce the best fleet.

Tonnage may be restricted but the human mind is not, and the wise nations of the old world will recognize this. We predict that the navies of Great Britain and Japan will have in the next ten years an intellectual development as great as they ever had before. They will have a personnel trained to the minute. They will have the best auxiliaries. They will be stimulated in the air and under the water. They will seek their excellence in direction not restricted by the naval agreement.

It is typically American that congress, finding that the government has agreed to limit tonnage, should then seek to destroy personnel, training and auxiliary equipment just at the moment when it ought to be most solicitous to meet the competition which will be wisely directed abroad.

We have lessened the number of our ships. We must increase the ability of our men. We must have them fully competent in numbers and in training to fight an American ship to the top of its fighting power. We must have every auxiliary which can be had. We have made the saving in steel. There can be no safe saving in trained men.

NEW IRELAND'S BIRTH PANGS.

The Irish Free State is not to be born without birth pangs. Whether it survives is not yet certain, but the men who are guiding its life are proved men, devoted, strong, and, which is most useful of all at the moment, practically wise. The predicament is acute. The new government is assailed in its own household, as it were—that is, in the Dail—by the irreconcilable republicans headed by De Valera. Mr. Collins' warning cable to the American society, the Friends of Irish Freedom, that the irreconcilables are planning an attempt to seize power by force indicates the gravity of De Valera's activities. Collins is no alarmist, but a resolute as well as a very able man, one of the ablest, undoubtedly, of Irish patriots, past or present. That he should fear violent tactics by the minority cannot be pleasant for friends of peace in Ireland to hear, though in America there seems the same division as in Ireland.

To make this inevitable schism still more dangerous is the irreconcilable Ulster Protestant minority, inflammable and ready to seize upon any tactics of the De Valera extremists as provocation to war. These irreconcilables in both camps, though one is for union and one for complete separation, find a common enemy in the settlement, and both would be glad to pull down the new government. The kidnapping of Ulstermen is obviously an effort to force the new government's hand and strengthen the position of the irreconcilables by reawakening passion and anarchy.

Moderates and practical men are between two fires. If the new government cannot prevent violence and defeat conspiracy, Ireland will soon be plunged back into the pit from which the same statesmanship of Collins and Griffiths succeeded, with the aid of Lloyd George's conciliatory policy, to draw her. There will be civil war again, with the British power as determined as ever to prevent what British conviction considers dismemberment of the empire. So far as we can see, the De Valera policy means disunion in Ireland and unification in England. That there can be hope for a free Irish people in this direction it will be hard for disinterested observers to believe.

Friends of Irish peace and progress under Irish rule may remember that our own nation had to go through grave crises, yet union and self rule survived. They will not despair. The present situation is complicated by the most dangerous of elements, religious feeling, but the great majority of the Irish people must be sick of futile civil war, while powerful forces of economic and political interest press for sensible accommodation on the basis of the agreement negotiated with the British government. The Irish Free State, headed as it is by devoted patriots and wise men, should manage to survive its enemies.

CHICAGO'S FUTURE IS IN A SUBWAY.

Downtown Chicago gives you the impression that a great populace and a great mass of traffic suddenly had huddled somewhere in a desert without design and without means of extricating itself from the confusion in which it found itself.

It seems as if a million people and a few hundred thousand street cars, trucks, cabs, etc., had come together in a panic and that the struggle for extrication was without reason or rule or idea. No sane person would think that downtown Chicago was the product of a settled habitation. It seems to have happened by mistake or chance. It seems to suggest that as soon as the people who have got into the jam can find their way out they never will return.

It is as if a disaster had given them one experience and precaution would prevent it ever happening again. On every street a street car track, or several of them. At every turn a street car turn. In every street a jam which makes locomotion next to impossible.

Can a city, which seems to be by accident or disaster, develop a city of design? Chicago has not answered that challenge thus far. It cannot persist as a formless accident. It must have rule and design and it will have neither until it clears its streets, gives decent and rapid transportation, and makes locomotion easy instead of next to impossible.

It must have a subway. For that it has the money and authority, but not the will. It has the need, but not the intelligence. It must take the street car tracks off its crowded loop streets and restore them to the pedestrians who now jump barricade after barricade in trying to get about.

When Chicago starts building a subway it will begin to be a city of design with a future rather than a city of accident with a past.

GIVING CRIMINALS ALL THE CHANCES.

Crimes of violence will continue to flourish in Chicago so long as repeated continuances of trial, non-enforcement of bail bond forfeitures and gun totting are permitted.

A criminal can now count on delaying his trial for months, on getting bail that he can afford to jump at will, on going free pending trial while he commits other crimes, on getting deadly weapons whenever he needs them.

The moment a criminal is taken this farce begins to be played. Bail is procured and he goes out to do as he pleases. Trial is called and postponed and as the months go by evidence against him fades away. When at last he is tried he has strengthened his defense and weakened the prosecution. If he is convicted, unless it be for murder in the first degree, he may go free on dubious bail till the next processes of appeal are ended, and at any time he can jump bail and disappear.

Between the date of his crime and final conviction he is usually free to prey upon society and every delay counts in his favor and against justice.

As Mr. Evans reminds us, the intent of our constitution is that any one charged with crime shall have a speedy trial. The innocent want prompt trial. The malefactor wants delay and under our blundering system he gets it.

The result is contempt for law and the encouragement of lawlessness. Give us swift justice and let gun totting be stopped at its source, and we shall be rid of crime waves forever.

Our administration of criminal justice today is a network which tangles and trips not the malefactor but justice itself. It is no defense for the law abiding. It is a complicated defense for those who prey upon him. This produces an intolerable situation and one we can abolish.

Editorial of the Day

THE POSTOFFICE, AIR MAIL SERVICE, AND CONGRESS.

[The Outlook.]

Nothing, except a constitutional amendment, can take from congress final power over the national expenditures. Congress, however, in passing the budget law established a principle which, as long as that law is of the statute books, should be faithfully adhered to.

Last week we pointed out that to adhere to this principle in the case of the Weeks law required the sacrifice of something in which all conservationists heartily believe. If we accept this principle when it proves adverse to an interest with which we sympathize, it gives us all the better right to argue for it when it acts in favor of something else which we approve.

The budget as submitted to congress contained a request for nearly $2,000,000 for the air mail service during the next fiscal year. The house of representatives has passed the annual postoffice appropriation bill without this appropriation. The senate should put the item for the air mail back again for two reasons: first, to maintain the principle of the budget, and, second, because the air mail service supplies a vital need.

INTIMATE KNOWLEDGE.

Just south of Port Royal, S. C., the "island" route presents great difficulties to the Florida yacht owners from the north. Sticky mud-flats and shifting sand bars, raising their tops to within a few inches of the surface of the water, restrict navigation to narrow, winding channels, known only to the initiated. One yacht skipper hired an old colored boatman to "take him through," after having been earnestly assured by the old man that he "knew every bank in the creek." For a few minutes all went well; then the little yacht slid gently up the slope of a submerged bar—and stayed there.

"You're a devil of a pilot!" stormed the skipper.

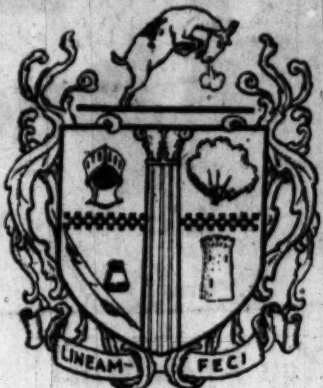

"I thought you knew every bank in the creek."

"So I do, boss, so I do," was the complacent reply. "Dis is one of dem now."—Harper's Magazine.

A LINE OF TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

PROPOSED COAT OF ARMS FOR THE LEGION OF THE LINE.

Vangie varia, rampant over Linea sable. Verde, a column argent between helm sable, penz sable, and fan d'or and tower blanc quartered chequy. Streamer azure with motto argent "LINEAM FIDELI."

The College of Heraldry of the Colym has been at work for a long time devising a coat of arms for the Legion of the Line. The one portrayed above is now submitted for approval. Any Contrb who is dissatisfied with this design is invited to send in his own suggestion and the College of Heraldry will redraw it, if so desired, and do it all up. A handsome hand-tooled buckwheat pancake will be given for the coat of arms finally accepted. The coat of arms will be engraved on the Colym, and used at the top of the Line of Type on all state occasions. Those who have made the Line can use the coat of arms on their carriages or limousines, or on their hats, or wear it on the left breast. It can only be used by royal warrant and unauthorized persons daring to wear the sacred emblem will be imprisoned in the denjon. In the denjon!

And close at hand is the Oublette.

WHO IS MABEL? WHO IS SHE?

Dear R. H. L.: In the Line last Sabbath you must be a race between Gamall and Mabel for front page space. Who is Gamall? Who is Mabel? We admit that erstwhile, with only Winkle, Harold, Teen, the Gumpes, Walt, An Heir at Large, and the Line, we sometimes had time to skim over the headlines of the front page before our train pulled into the N. W. depot. But now that you've added a complete page of pictures and Doris Blake's Lure, it is unreasonable, unjust, and unkind of you to alude whatever to the front page. Again I ask you, who is Mabel?

INDIGNANT.

Who is Mabel? Who is she?

Well, right now, there is some doubt; But I'll add that the police are plowing hell up to find out.

AH, YES, R. E. J., YOURS IS BY FAR THE BEST.

Dear R. H. L.: The destructive critics got their pen each. They didn't care. They missed the big thing, the real thing. I have written a criticism of the W. G. N. If the things that were published were worth twenty-five dollars then mine is worth eleven hundred and seventy-five dollars. Because mine is the truth. But I lay it freely and without price on the altar of the Colym. Here it is:

The W. G. N. is a wonderful N., etc. Founded and grounded away back when, etc. Owned and controlled by a couple of men, etc. The editors flourish an eloquent pen, etc. Kicks the head home all over the den, etc. Votes the right ticket, collects the most yen, etc. Etc., etc., again and again.

But the Line is the G. in the W. G. N. R. E. J.

MANY WERE CULLED BUT FEW WERE CHOSEN.

R. H. L.: In the cafe of the new Eau Claire hotel, Gadder entertaining 'nother gadder. Both order Blue Points on the half shell. Extremely long wait. Waitress finally reappears and places oysters on table. "Take her to task for slow service," she resents. Says, "Don't jump on me, they hadta open such a lot afore they could find twelve that dast serve." E. B. M.

MISS LILLIAN COLLEY OF THE COPS BLEW INN RESTAURANT, ON OHIO STREET, SAID AT THE TRIAL YESTERDAY:

"I tried to start a Greenwich Village in Chicago." Ah, Lillian, one swallow does not make the springtime, nor four candles and a cowbell a Greenwich Village in Chicago.

IN THE LIBRARY.

The brown hued room is lined with books. 'Tis quiet as the grave; But there I hobnob with the world, And mix with saint and knave. They open wide their varied hearts, Their thoughts they let me know. 'Tis Life a-bolling in the pot, 'Tis Earth's eternal show. I love them all, and view with care The crooked, shining way. The puzzle called the human heart Enchants me night and day.

And when my own Life's House is rocked By winds which twist and rend, I seek this motley crowd a while, And always find a friend.

My sense of humor rears its head; I find some howling storm Has tumbled many a doll house down, Without much world-wide harm.

MADAM EVY.

THEM BANDITS HAIN'T GOT NO PRINCIPLES NOW.

R. H. L.: Overheard on Harrison street, near Western avenue. The patrol wagon had stopped and several cops are about to enter a house, the last copper out locks the wagon door, and a curious citizen asks why. "So no gun can't swipe them cushions," the brawny sergeant said.

OR WHOM ARE YOU, JOHNNY HERTZ?

R. H. L.: Yallerkeb asks: "Who are you ridin' with?" "I'll tell 'em that if they can answer this one: 'Who did you go to school to?'" T. A. G.

It means "I have made the Line." It nearly means that anyhow, but Sir Edward, Sir Robert, and Sir William Firebaugh, Keeper of the Royal Seals and Dean of the College of Heraldry, are still engaged in a bitter Latin wrangle on the subject. R. H. L.

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, of matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed, Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. ON HEART REMEDIES. PHYSICIANS do not give bread pills in this day and generation. The people no longer wear blinders, and a frank prescription of bread pills would result in the patient "renting another doctor," as our old friend Tom O'Malley would say.

But the principle of bread pills is all right, as every doctor knows, and the remedy has no intention to quit using it. What they employ in this age of universal mental alertness is the "medicine which, if it does you no good—it will do you no harm."

Since the patent medicines are like custom made clothes in that they try to fit everybody, and therefore, fit nobody accurately, they must be of the "if-it-does-you-no-good-it-will-do-you-no-harm" type.

Of course, nature is a powerfully fine doctor, and many a cure which nature makes is credited in the wrong column. It comes mighty near being true that a medicine which can do you no harm will do you no good.

One reason for our inability to use alcohol, atropin, curare, scintilla, and other list of drugs which act in the main, on the sympathetic nerves and the vasomotor system, is that they are so powerful that they do harm when they do not do good, and we do not yet know enough about them to know when they can be used with benefit.

Digitalis is an illustration of a drug which is very liable to do harm when it does no good. Of course, people have sort of had the digitalis taking habit for a generation.

If the above statement is correct, why is it that many people have not harmed themselves? Maybe lots of them have—unquestionably many of them have been saved because they took some impotent medicine and because they took that, they thought that was too small to have any particular effect.

Not until something less than ten years ago did physicians know much about the use of digitalis, and they still do not know much to learn. There are some of the things they have learned in recent years.

Digitalis, as found on the market, is a very uneven drug. To be just right, it is made by hand from the right plant, grown on the right soil, and gathered at the right time in the right season.

It must be used for heart disease only in those cases in which it is called for. Up to a few years ago we divided heart troubles into organic and functional, but functional heart troubles were we were disposed to call nervous heart, and let it go at that.

In recent years they are disposed to divide nervous heart into some six to twelve varieties. Some of these are helped by digitalis; some are harmed by it.

Therefore, the second thing now insisted on is that digitalis be employed with care.

WIDENING ROBBY STREET. Chicago, Feb. 8.—[Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly advise the writer how soon Robby Street is to be widened, where, and approximately how much it will be widened, also what side of the street will be widened, and when the work is expected to begin.

In our plans for widening Robby street, it is only necessary to widen certain portions of Robby street in order to make it useable and safe. It would be difficult to give full details in a letter. At any time that the property owners care to do so, they can be heard from the improvement office, where they will be shown all of the details of just what portions of the street are to be widened.

REPLYING TO A SHOCKED MARINE.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—In reply to the ridiculous sentiments expressed by the capacious marine Feb. 7, under the title "Even a Leatherneck is Shocked," I wish to express my opinions.

The "beautiful white women" he depicts could not be forced to consort with Negroes did they not desire to do so. Intelligent historians blame the white southern for the vast number of mulattoes.

This condition cannot be condoned while he so strongly censures the deplorable condition he depicts.

The statement that "the Negro of the south is polite and is met with politeness" is a farce. In general, he meets his white superior (?) with a sullen, morose, and fearful attitude, and is met with an iron hand of oppression, a rule of tyranny.

The Negro of tomorrow cannot and will not be subjected to a rule "with an iron hand in a velvet glove." He must be allowed social equality—not a licentious intermingling among the white race. He does not desire that as much as the white race has proven its desire to intermingle among the Negro race; but a social equality from a civic and industrial standpoint.

A United States representative from Mississippi recently said, in speaking against the Dyer anti-lynching bill, that he "would rather see the black race of the world were lynched than for one of the fair daughters of the south to be ravished and torn by one of these black brutes." This is also the sentiment of the "marine," expressed more forcefully.

The Negro undoubtedly entertains, with virulence, the same feeling of resentment in cases where their women are ravished by white men. DOUGHOOT.

"DON'T LINE UP TO SPEND YOUR MONEY!"

Chicago, Feb. 6.—To L. R. Rollins I would suggest: Follow the above advice and you can rest assured that there will not be another Iroquois horror in Chicago or elsewhere. The truth of the matter is that people today will stand in a line of shivering humanity, an hour or more, just to see a much advertised picture, with the personal appearance of a hero or heroine as an extra drawing card, rather than seek their amusement further down the line.

In doing the lineup stunt you assist the manager to cheat those already inside via the rush the show through route, so that he can get you in and do likewise.

Last, but not the least, you do the very thing you complain about—namely: assisting to block the main entrance exit, so that should a fire or stampede start, those inside would suffer. I have been refused a refund once or twice when I found a jammed lobby, with no line outside, but I compelled them to cash up before I left and got it.

Let the fire commissioners do their duty regarding our playhouses by keeping all exits and exits clear, and compel managers to stick out the full house signs.

GERMANY HOPES TO BURY TREATY OF VERSAILLES

This is the first of a short series of articles showing the problems which Germany will take to the Genoa conference.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.)

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—Germany is going to the Genoa conference prepared to show that the return of world prosperity depends upon the abandonment of the reparations clauses of the treaty of Versailles or at all events upon their transformation into a form differing substantially from that of the London ultimatum which was accepted in the spring of 1921 by the Wirth government.

There is unanimous opinion that the world's, and especially Europe's, economic condition is largely influenced by the reparations question, with the consequent effects upon German industry and currency, and the German delegation at Genoa will be able to use this opinion as a large and powerful club. It will be present at all times, even when not mentioned.

See Light Ahead.
It is the cynical Teutonic view that the conference is not being held "for the sake of Germany's blue eyes." In a phrase of the country. The world, the Germans reason, is beginning to

CASHIER FOR DRUG FIRM MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING THREE DAYS

Edwin D. Steere, a cashier for the Home Drug company, residing at 205 East Ontario street, has been missing since Sunday night.

Steere's wife, who is about to become a mother, collapsed yesterday and is said to be in a serious condition through worry over her husband's absence. It is believed Steere met with an accident or bandits, as he is in good health and his accounts are straight.

Steere is 5 feet 7 inches in height and weighs about 160 pounds. He has brown hair and blue eyes. On his right wrist is a tattoo mark showing clasped hands.

See for itself that the present reparations solution has solved nothing and has resulted in nothing but bankruptcy and the destruction of valuable enterprise industrial and economic enterprises.

The German delegation will point out, or assume it is a matter of general knowledge, that the unemployment throughout the world, with the practical absence of unemployment in Germany, is a direct result of the London reparations solution. Germany claims the ability to sell its goods to other countries and the inability to absorb anything but living necessities from other countries, a condition which is the outcome of the present method of making Germany pay the treaty obligations in cash or currency to the victor states.

German Cash Argument.
Germany argues that entirely apart from the flood of paper money, the compulsion to buy large amounts of dollars, pounds and francs at intervals for the fulfillment of the ultimatum automatically makes the depreciation of the marks greater, with an ensuing appreciation in the cost of living and production in Germany it said. Therefore every additional payment to the victor states automatically brings German business into an even more favorable position to undersell foreign competitors. At the same time Germany becomes poorer because of the amount of paper money required to make the payment and the depreciation of the currency makes Germany less capable of using foreign goods.

BRITISH GREET BALFOUR LIKE CONQUEROR HERO

Cabinet Leads Crowd in Cheering Him.

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, Feb. 14.—No conquering general ever received such honors on his homecoming as were accorded Arthur J. Balfour on his arrival in London today. Half an hour before his train was due, the whole cabinet, headed by Prime Minister Lloyd George, assembled on the platform at Waterloo station and when the train rolled in every member of the cabinet joined in a spontaneous cheer.

It is safe to say that Mr. Balfour today is the most popular man in England, not being second even to Mr. Lloyd George, who has many enemies, while Mr. Balfour has none.

In addition to the cabinet ministers there were present the Earl of Bradford, representing the king, Lord Riddell, Lord Desborough, Lady Frances Balfour, Ambassador and Mrs. Harvey and many others. When Mr. Balfour stepped from the train all crowded around him, shaking his hand and congratulating him on his success at Washington. There was no speech-making and the welcome was entirely informal and spontaneous.

Lord Lee of Fareham, who accompanied Mr. Balfour, was almost unnoticed in the rush to welcome the chief of the British delegation. After the greeting, the whole cabinet accompanied Mr. Balfour to his car and as he entered Mr. Lloyd George took off his hat and led the cheering by a great crowd of spectators who had assembled in the station.

The welcome began at Southampton, where Mr. Balfour was greeted officially by the mayor. In replying, the venerable leader said he hoped the result of the Washington conference would lighten the burdens of taxation and bind closer all nations. He said he believed it would knit closer the hearts of the two great English speaking nations.

In an interview Mr. Balfour said he was greatly pleased and impressed with his visit to America. He had no doubt that the treaties would be ratified.

CITY ASKS VIEWS OF BIG BUSINESS ON CAR FARE CUT

Twelve Men Requested to Give Testimony.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Chester E. Cleveland, special attorney for the city, asked the Illinois Commerce Commission yesterday to summon a dozen of Chicago's prominent business men and manufacturers to testify regarding the effect of a decrease in the fare on the surface lines. These prospective witnesses employ and handle large numbers of men and have had experience in obtaining large sums of money. It is probably in connection with these subjects that they will be interrogated.

Those on List.

The list, minus the identification which was not given to the commerce commission, is as follows: Thomas E. Wilson of the packing firm bearing his name, Arthur Meeker of Armour & Co., packers, Edward Morris Jr. of the Morris packing house, J. Harry Selz and Abraham Selz of the shoe corporation of Selz, Schwab & Co.,

E. J. Buffington and Theodore W. Robinson of the Illinois Steel company, Philip D. Block and Leopold E. Block of the Block stock company, Harry Hart and Max Hart of the clothing house of Hart, Schaffner & Marx, J. D'Esposito, chief engineer of the new union station.

Three witnesses were heard by the commission yesterday. Two were bankers, Carl J. Richter, vice president of the Prudential State Savings bank, and Daniel V. Harkin, president of the Union bank of Chicago. By these Mr. Cleveland sought to show that the price of money has decreased materially since the 8 cent fare was established in 1920.

Apparently his object was to show also that 6 per cent was a sufficient interest rate and consequently was a sufficient return for the surface lines. Mr. Richter testified at length, but Mr. Harkin said that he would send in the head of the bond department of his bank, James Sheehan, attorney for the company, on cross-examination, sought to show that the witnesses knew of no street car company, comparable with Chicago's, which could obtain money for less than 6 per cent. He did not disclose how large a rate he deemed sufficient, but made it plain that he was certain it was above 6 per cent.

Rerouting Still Experimental. E. H. Morgan, schedule maker for the surface lines cars, was questioned all afternoon by Mr. Cleveland, who was attempting to find out what savings had been made in rerouting cars in the loop and how much money was paid the street car conductors and motormen in overtime, bonus time, and lay over time. Morgan said that the rerouting is still in the experimental stage. He promised to get the other information requested. The hearing will be resumed Thursday morning.

Hot Springs, Arkansas

For thousands of people a trip to the Hot Springs of Arkansas is an annual event. It is their one expedition from home during the year.

They go for the baths, for the out-door sports—the golf, the tennis and baseball—the horseback jaunts—the racing, motoring and mountain climbing. They go for the Southern climate and for the invigorating air—and they go for the gayeties of the resort hotels.

Why not join them this winter?

If you have not visited Hot Springs—our first National Park—you have missed one of the most popular resorts in America.

CRIPPLED NAVY PERIL TO U. S., ADMIRAL WARNS

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—Admiral Robert E. Coontz, chief of naval operations, stands squarely behind Secretary Denby in his fight against the movement in congress to reduce naval expenditures to a figure which would reduce the navy and send it down the ship-racing scale to a point below the Japanese rating, thus destroying the ratio of the naval treaty which places the United States on a parity with Great Britain.

Appearing before the house naval affairs committee today, Admiral Coontz stated that the navy is not prepared to reduce the fleet to a point below 90,000 men, and that the fleet must be kept at a proper efficiency for the safety of the country.

90,000 Men Is Limit.
"I heartily agree," said Admiral Coontz, "speaking not only as a naval officer but as an American citizen, with the recommendations of the secretary of the navy that the commissioned personnel be not reduced at the present time, that the present first class at the naval academy be commissioned on graduation; that the naval academy appointments be reduced from five to three in accordance with the act of congress of Feb. 15, 1916, and that the enlisted personnel of the navy be not reduced below 90,000 men and 6,000 apprentices for the fiscal year 1923."

The secretary of the navy has called your attention to the expenditure of the naval establishment for the year amounting to $478,000,000. If we add to this various other transactions and money returned to the treasury, we will have practically a half billion dollar business. Its ramifications extend all over the world.

Other Work of Navy.
"The navy maintains communications in the interior of Europe as far east as Constantinople and Warsaw for the benefit of our country, its commercial interests and the American relief work. Our radio communications handle Pacific matters, and, at the present time, due to the breaking of the mid-way cable, are handling practically the entire trans-Pacific traffic."

"The naval appropriation also provides the funds for the administration of our island possession, among which are the Virgin Islands, Haiti, San Domingo, Guam, and Samoa."

Wife of D'Andrea, Labor Chief, Sues for Divorce

Anthony D'Andrea, business agent for the International Hod Carriers' union, with a reputed income of $475 a month, was yesterday sued for divorce by Mrs. Marie D'Andrea, 3839 South Union avenue. She alleges that D'Andrea, who is a nephew of the nineteenth ward politician who was slain a year ago in a political feud, had remained at home only five nights during the three years of their married life.

TRIBUNE'S HARPOON RID CITY OF LOAN SHARKS, LAWYER SAYS

The loan sharks are out of business, it was announced last night by Attorney James E. Callahan of Callahan & Callahan, following the settlement of the last of 8,753 cases which grew out of a campaign against usury started in 1916. That start in 1916 was in turn the outcome of an earlier fight conducted by THE TRIBUNE over a period of several years.

"In April, 1916, (Copyright) Moffett, more than 1,000 loan sharks were in business in Chicago," Mr. Callahan said. "Today fourteen salary loan concerns and eighty chattel loan concerns are listed, and these operate under the 'small loans law.'"

POLICE DRIVE ON SPITTERS OPENS TODAY—BEWARE!

Arrest, jail, bondsmen, courts, prosecutions, and punishment by fine or worse face the spitter today and hereafter.

Health Commissioner Bundgen, declaring that a survey of the loop district yesterday shows that his warning to the public against promiscuous expectoration has been ignored, requested Chief Fitzmorris yesterday to arrest all spitters beginning today.

Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court announced that a Spitters' court will be established Friday morning to hear the cases of those arrested.

"And the court will be full," said Chief Fitzmorris.

PLAN TO CARRY HARVEY CHURCH TO THE GALLOWES

Predictions that Harvey W. Church, condemned murderer, may have to be carried to the gallows to be hanged next Friday were voiced yesterday by all officials, who have been feeding him through a tube for several days. Church has been on a hunger strike for some time, but since the forcible feeding was begun he has gained strength. However, it is thought he will be able to walk to the gallows. Church's attorneys were still waiting word yesterday from the pardon board on their plea for a commutation of sentence. If it is denied an insanity petition probably will be filed.

SYRUP PEPSIN IN OLD AGE

Much used by elderly people for constipation, biliousness, headaches, etc.

MANY men and women, as they grow older, suffer constantly from little ills. The cause is the poisons produced by chronic constipation, resulting in headaches, depression, bloating, sour stomach, bad breath, etc. A single bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will prove to you that you can so regulate yourself that elimination will occur promptly every day. Increased doses are not necessary. It is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin. The cost is only about a cent a dose.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been on the market 30 years and is today the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, the formula has never been improved upon. It is safer and better for you than salts, minerals, calomel, coal tar and such drastic purgatives.

Half-Ounce Bottle Free

For escape constipation, so even if you do not require a laxative at this moment let me send you a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of my Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE so that you will have it handy when needed. Simply send your name and address to Dr. W. R. Caldwell, 514 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Write me today.

What you should know about a Fountain Pen

A FOUNTAIN PEN is nothing more or less than a writing instrument which carries its own supply of ink. It is virtually a tube containing ink, with a pen point inserted in one end of it.

The difference in efficiency between one make of fountain pen and another lies in how closely they approach perfection in controlling automatically the flow of ink from the tube to the pen point during the act of writing.

Thirty-eight years ago, Mr. L. E. Waterman invented Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen. It was the first fountain pen with a device that in scientific conception and practical application automatically controlled the flow of ink from the barrel to the point of the pen. It did this with a degree of perfection never before known and which, to the present moment, has never been equalled.

This device is the famous Waterman spoon feed and it can be found only in

TRAEGER COMES OUT FOR SHERIFF AGAINST DAILEY

John E. Traeger, former sheriff and coroner, last night announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for sheriff in the April 11 primaries. This made possible a primary election that is expected to be held on the morning of the regular election. Traeger was approved as official man by the anti-organization slate, as completed last night. As follows, the figures indicating the ward in which the candidate lives: Sheriff—John E. Traeger [30]. County judge—John J. Rooney [5]. President county board—Daniel Ryan [32].

Board of review—James M. Slattery [25]. Probate court clerk—John S. Clark [25].

Sanitary district trustee—Peter Barton [25]. At a final session of the new slate-making, an ex-service man is to be added for clerk of the Criminal court, and another service man is to be on for another place. Four women are to be named for places on the county commission ticket.

POLITICAL NOTES

New angle was shot into the county ticket mess by the filing of a petition by Jacob Legion Tenny, as a Democratic candidate for county treasurer for "the vacancy caused by the death of Harry R. Gibbons." His petition is accepted as a premise for a court fight to be started against the election of County Treasurer Patrick J. Clark by the county board, following the death of the late Treasurer Gibbons. Legal authorities yesterday said that the Tenny claim is entirely without foundation in law.

William H. Fish filed his petition as a candidate for the Republican nomination for judge of the Probate court.

Primary petitions filed yesterday with Secretary of State Emerson included: State central committeemen, Third district, Democratic, Terence F. Moran, 5434 Ada street; representative in congress, Eighth district, Democratic, Girard Kolassa, 1400 Cornell street; representative in the general assembly, Ninth district, Democratic, John P. O'Hara, 3030 Loomis street; Eighteenth district, Democratic, Mrs. Julia Voorhees Johnson, Peoria; congressman-at-large, Republican, Richard Yates, Springfield.

MRS. FAIRBANK URGED TO ENTER THE RACE FOR BRITTEN'S SEAT

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank is considering a proposition to enter the race for congress in the Ninth district as a Democratic candidate. This is the so-called "Gold Coast" district, now represented by Representative Fred A. Britten. It is anticipated, will have no trouble landing the Republican nomination. Mrs. Fairbank is expected to give her decision this week.

Should she make the race it is believed she would rally to her standard the large independent element in the district, and friends of Britten admit she probably would give him trouble at the election.

Mrs. Julia Peters, 1437 South Sangamon street, was placed on probation for a year for the Maxwell street court yesterday. She admitted attempting to bribe a policeman and possessing moonshine.

Dandruff Soon Disappears

Simply wet the scalp a few times with Kloria. Wonderful for skin ailments or itching anywhere. Free trial proves it.

NOTHING could be simpler than wetting the scalp a few times with Kloria. And the results from the very first application will show how easily this scalp annoyance can be ended by a few of these simple treatments. It stops the itching almost immediately, and is as harmless as water to the hair. Kloria is the new and wonderful antiseptic, discovered in the world war, which, by scientific test, is over 40 times more germ-killing than carbolic acid. This great germicidal power is what makes it so effective. Yet Kloria is not poisonous, doesn't burn or irritate, is soothing, pleasant, safe, and more healing than anything else ever known. For eczema, itching skin, eruptions and irritations, Kloria has an almost magic effect. Wounds, sores, boils and burns often heal in one-fourth the usual time. Test it for pyorrhea (soot, bleeding gums) and notice how promptly the soreness and bleeding disappear—usually in one week. As a mouth-wash, it really destroys the acid-forming bacteria, thus preventing tooth-decay. As a gargle, it relieves sore throat most promptly. Harmless, yet far more effective than any poisonous antiseptic for personal hygiene. Dissolve a few Kloria Tablets in water, and instantly you have, at a cost of a few cents, a large bottle of liquid antiseptic which is clean, colorless, stainless and virtually odorless. All drugists, 50c. Money refunded if not satisfied.

Free Sample A sample of Kloria, enough for a convincing test, will be gladly sent free. Write for it. The result will be a revelation. The Kloria Co., Dept. 11, Ft. Wayne, Ind. "The All-Purpose Antiseptic"

TRACTORS PULL EGYPT'S FARMS OUT OF DESPAIR

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Marion, Ill., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Rejuvenating farming land and overlying the coal fields of Egypt is the big task now being tackled by the farmers bankers, county agents, and others interested in the agriculture of southern Illinois.

With sour, yellow clay soil to deal with, insects to wipe out their fruit crop, chinch bugs to kill their corn, and mine operators to compete with in hiring farm labor, many orchardists and live stock and grain farmers were forced to cut down their operations or give up farming altogether.

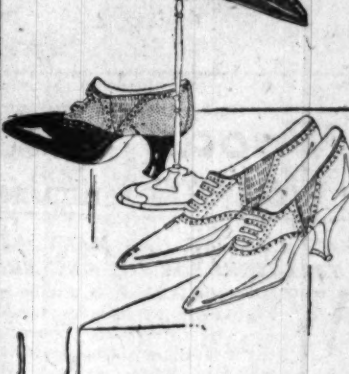

But that day has passed. The outlook for agriculture in southern Illinois is better than it has been for many years. Farmers are using limestone to sweeten their soil and fertilizers to build up their land. They are handling the insects by spraying their fruit trees and growing crop peas and clover, instead of corn.

During the last two or three seasons they have found the tractor an effective means of solving the farm labor problem, although the average corn belt farmer used to think there would be little use for the tractor in the poor, worn out farming sections of southern Illinois.

WOMAN MOONSHINE ON PROBATION. Mrs. Julia Peters, 1437 South Sangamon street, was placed on probation for a year for the Maxwell street court yesterday. She admitted attempting to bribe a policeman and possessing moonshine.

By a side-step of Fashion they can be worn either high or in folds about the ankle, and the gayest ones are of brown or gray suede combined with black patent leather. Fifth floor.

Rainbows in the rag-bag

The canny Colonial ladies who realized the rainbows hidden in rag bags! To take fluttering, many-colored tatters and by some quaint art to bring them down to earth with none of their beauty lost, and to convert them into that most lowly and utilitarian article, a rag rug—that is a study in rainbows. Rug-making at home has been revived and competent instruction is given on the third floor. The clean, bright new, rags are 50c per hank. Third floor.

Padlocked!!!

And no key in sight! How is young Patricia DeBoul to get into her little black moire purse? Simply by pressing the marquisette top in the most natural way. The conceit of these new French bags are misleading, but none the less delightful. Buckles, corners, cameos, and padlocks are all glittering of marquisette and they lend a flash of brilliance to the vanities and semi-envelope purses of satin striped moire. First floor.

PLESTINA WINS FROM FREBERG IN FAST MAT MATCH

BY FRANK SMITH.

Marin Plestina, the thorn in the side of the wrestling trust, last night demonstrated to a crowd that filled the Astor-Lauderdale ballroom that he is a contender for the heavyweight title by pinning John Freberg, one of the best heavyweights hereabouts, to the mat in the eighth round of their fifteen session encounter.

Plestina, heralded as a defensive wrestler, showed the crowd, which was made up of some of our very best people, that he could go on the offensive and deal some telling blows to an opponent. Plestina's victory should take none of the glamour from Freberg's showing, for the Scandinavian early indicated he was a man to be reckoned with.

Plestina Master of Freberg. Even then the giant Slav seemed to be the master of Freberg at nearly every stage of the game, in face of the fact that he appeared to be in trouble at times. Early in the match, Freberg slipped some tough holds on the Chicago boy, but the massive form seemed able to wriggle out of the tough holds. This was said for Freberg, too, but he began to tire in the sixth round and from that time on until just before Freberg pinned him with a bone breaker, Freberg was in a precarious position with a hammerlock. Only superhuman strength saved Plestina from what appeared certain defeat.

Way the Rounds Went. We do not know how Emil Thiry, the referee, figured the rounds, but this is the way they looked to us: First to Plestina, second to Plestina, third to Plestina, fourth even, fifth to Freberg, sixth even, seventh to Plestina. Two fast preliminary bouts made up the show promoted by Doc Krone. John Ekovitch didn't waste much time with Harry Jamieson. Big John got warmed up in the first round and is the second clamped a body scissors and wristlock on Harry and the whole thing was over. Bill Demetral, who has wrestled nearly every one of his weight in the game, took on a new figure hereabouts in Gene Le Marquis and found a tangle, but finally managed to pin the Frenchman's shoulders to the mat in the fourth round with a toe hold.

JOIE RAY IN RACE IN K. OF C. GAMES IN N. Y. TONIGHT

New York, Feb. 14.—(Special.)—Joie Ray, Illinois A. C. distance star, will seek further laurels tomorrow night at the annual indoor meet of the New York Knights of Columbus. Earl Johnson of Pittsburgh, colored national fre and ten mile champion, will start from scratch with Ray in a handicap two mile special, and there will be a field of liberally handicapped rivals to face the two stars to their limit.

I. A. C. TANKERS OFF FOR DETROIT

Coch Bill Bachrach and four Illinois A. C. swimmers will leave tonight for Detroit to compete in the Central A. U. championship events at the Detroit Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night. Johnny Weissmuller will swim the 50 and 250 yard events, Robert Skolman the 440 yard breast stroke, Miss Fybi Bauer the 100 yard back stroke, and Miss Edna O'Connell the 100 yard breast stroke. All of the quartet are title and record holders.

Tunney Stops Wenzel in 4 Rounds at Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 14.—(Special.)—Gene Tunney, heavy weight champion of America, so badly beat Whitey Wenzel of Pittsburgh, that the bout was stopped in the fourth round of the scheduled eight at the Ice Palace, Wenzel being helpless at the time. Tunney weighed 175 pounds and Wenzel 155. In the semi-finals Joe O'Donnell of Gloucester and Billy Devine of this city, boxed eight rounds to a draw.

Dr. Williams Accepts as Minnesota Advisory Coach

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 14.—Dr. H. L. Williams, former head football coach at University of Minnesota, announced tonight he had accepted a position as "advisory coach in football" tendered him by the board of regents. In addition to his duties as advisory coach the veteran grid mentor will act as "adviser to the president on football." It was announced by President L. D. Coffman, who declined to comment.

DEMPSEY A VISITOR; ITCHES FOR BATTLE

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives are: At New York—Walt Larson stopped Mickey Collins (11); Joe McLean beat Pat Miller (11); Willie Crystal beat Johnny Mario (10). At New York, Pa.—Jack McCarthy beat Herman Miller (10). At Philadelphia—Gene Tunney stopped Whitey Wenzel (4); Joe O'Donnell and Billy Devine, draw (8). At San Antonio, Tex.—Kid Fanebo defeated Bobby Hughes (10).

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, passed through Chicago yesterday on his way to New York, where he will have a conference with Manager Kearns relative to a trip to Europe to box Georges Carpentier or engage in a theatrical tour. The champion asserted he is ready to fight any opponent selected by his manager, regardless of color. This statement implies Dempsey has had a change of heart and will defend his title against Harry Wills, Bill Tate, or any other colored fighters who are looked upon as contenders.

Unlike most titleholders, Dempsey wants to fight. He realizes there are few opponents in this country who would make an attractive match, and he is hunting other fields to conquer. "I can be ready to defend my title inside of a month," the champion said. "I have been engaging in light training ever since my fight with Carpentier. I never let myself get out of shape."

Ready for All Challenges. As for fighting, I will box any man Manager Kearns selects, white or colored. As the public is demanding I defend my title against Harry Wills, I will fight him if my manager makes the match. If they want me to fight Johnson or Tate, I will do so, as long as they offer the purses.

"This fighting game is an uncertain one. I do not know when I will be hard enough on the jaw to take the count, and then my money making days are over. I intend to commercialize the championship, but will do it defending it and not by going into retirement and picking up the soft stage money or picking on setups."

Takes Coin from Chicago. One of the first things the champion did after his arrival early yesterday morning was to draw a large amount of money from a local bank. He then tried to persuade his old friend, Mike Trant, to accompany him east, but Mike could not get away. Jack took a noon train for New York, but before he stepped on the rattler denied rumors he was engaged to Bebe Daniels, the movie actress. Jack asserted Miss Daniels is a friend and that is all.

Twenty Mile Race Billed on Local Streets Feb. 22

A twenty mile foot race over south-west side boulevards will be held Wednesday night. The event is sponsored by the Olympic Sports club, under Central A. U. sanction. Entries close Saturday with Al Parker, 3015 Archer avenue.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

This Dinner Set Is $60

IT consists of service for twelve and is of English semi-porcelain with a fine wax-like surface. The border, in black and gold, is the Etruscan design which, from time immemorial, has been put on things of quality and distinction. It gives an effect of pleasing simplicity to this China.

But this is only one of the Dinner Sets in the February Sale, for all of them are reduced except Lenox and Wedgwood wares. There are American semi-porcelain Sets at $27.50 and up; others of English semi-porcelain, $45 and up, and imported China Sets, $50 and up.

Second Floor, North, Wabash.

February Sale of Stemware

Eighteen-Piece Set at $7.50

THERE is hardly a party which doesn't demand Stemware of one or more varieties, from the Cocktail Glasses at the beginning to the Finger Bowls at the end. So every hostess must be concerned about a sale which reduces the prices of this Glass.

A set of eighteen pieces in a rose pattern is marked at $7.50. Six Goblets, six Sherbet Glasses and six Ale Glasses.

Second Floor, Middle.

Selling of Haeger Pottery

HAEGER is an Illinois Pottery, well made and designed with eye to beauty of form. The pieces in this selling are all in bold, definite colors—Chinese yellows, and French blues, black, and greens.

The prices are astonishingly low, being far less than the customary figures, for this is a special purchase. Flower Bowls, $1.50; Flower Baskets and Hanging Baskets, 75c; Fruit Compotes, 65c; Jardinières with saucers for growing plants or bulbs, 55c; and Hanging Baskets with Chains, $1.25.

Second Floor, Middle, Wabash.

Sunfast Drapery Fabric, $2.75

THE advantages to a Drapery Fabric of being sunfast are manifest. This is a good material, plain or striped and 50 inches wide, with a fine silken lustre. There are twelve different colors, some of them changeable in effect. It can be used for hangings most successfully, and the price is very special indeed.

Ruffled Net Curtains, $3.85

These are plain Net Curtains of durable quality and workmanship—the sort to be used in any room. 2½ yds. by 36 ins., $3.85 a pair. Others, 2½ yds. by 72 ins., are $8.85 a pair.

Point d'Esprit Curtains, $4.85

They are ruffled, of a very fine quality net with small dots. 2½ yds. by 36 ins., $4.85 a pair. An extra quality 2½ yds. by 72 ins., ruffled on one or both sides, $11.85 a pair.

Imported Cretonnes, 50c a Yard

Just the sort of Cretonnes you will need for bright washable Spring draperies and coverings for furniture are marked at this low price. Of unusually good quality in a large variety of patterns and colors.

Fifth Floor, Wabash Avenue.

Lamp Shades

ALL fabrics and parchment Shades for Lamps and Candlesticks are reduced in price during February. New Shades in the most delightful of new styles are arriving constantly and proving to be values of much worth and interest.

Second Floor, Middle, Wabash.

This Month's Sale of Comforters

THERE are very special values in the Comforter Section this month, for all of them are on sale. If you buy a supply now, the first chilly nights next year will not come unawares.

Wool Filled Comforters, $7.25
Are covered with good quality silkline with 9-in. borders.

Wool Blankets, $12 Pair
These are covered in pink, blue or rose, in 5-in. blocks, and bound with 3-in. soisette.

Second Floor, North, State.

Chairs for the Very Young

IF the younger generation more often had Chairs all its own, grown up people wouldn't have to wonder why "sitting still" is so unpopular a pastime. A brown Fibre High Chair, well constructed, is specially priced at $4.75. A small fumed oak Rocker with imitation leather seat, also special, $2.50.

Eighth Floor, South, State.

Reductions in Beds and Bedding

Hair Mattresses, $32 up

WHEN one buys a good curled hair Mattress one may be sure of getting the most satisfactory service. Those of the best quality are much reduced during the February selling, the full sized ones being $32, $40, $48 and up to $56.

Many Day Beds, wood-finished steel Beds and enameled steel Cribes are also specially priced.

Ninth Floor, Middle, State.

Sofa, $308

LOW and wide, the Sofa is a truly graceful embodiment of ease. Most of its angles are square, making an outline which is bold and vigorous in effect.

The base is carved, thereby giving it an appearance of lightness which prevents it from becoming too ponderous.

Its Covering

It is covered in a combination of plain mohair and figured frieze, which achieves a pleasing contrast.

The Cushions are loose and filled with down of fine quality. Price, $308.

Chair, $148

THE ARMCHAIR is built to match the Sofa, and is covered and designed in the same way, with a combination of angles and curves which makes it most adaptable to various surroundings.

It is large and deep, but completely avoids any effect of heaviness. The price is $148.

Walnut Cabinet

Carving of a unique character distinguishes the Cabinet, which is of Walnut painted and skillfully decorated.

It is tall and so majestic of line that it would give much dignity to a hallway or living room. Price, $495.

Sample Furniture of Fine Distinction Reduced in the February Sale

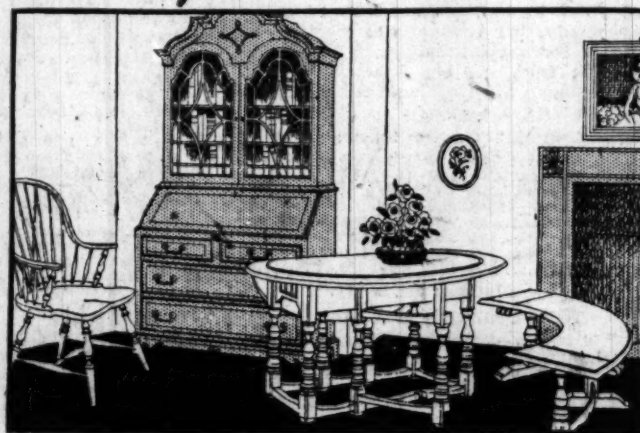

The Character of This Furniture

THE acquisition of six lines of Sample Furniture from the manufacturers gives us the opportunity of putting all these pieces on sale at exceedingly low prices. That they are sample lines means that they were made for the showrooms—to be subjected to the scrutiny of visiting buyers, and therefore that they were made with even greater care than one would ordinarily expect. The admirable perfection and originality of every detail of construction, the intricacy of the carving and ornamentation, and the exquisite taste of the designing—all play their invaluable parts in making this the sort of Furniture one likes to live with and to put permanently into one's home. The prices all represent striking reductions.

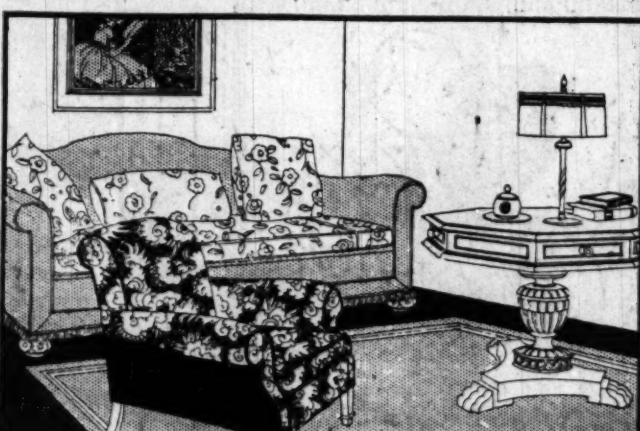

A Table Richly Carved

A TABLE and Library Desk combined, around which an entire room might be evolved, so impressive is its appearance. Five drawers on each side. Price, $275. Side Chair covered in figured tapestry, with a carved frame of combination walnut, $128. Armchair, $148. Polychromed Mirror, $120.

Furniture of Quaint Charm

A TABLE of walnut with antique finish is $70. The Bench, also of antique finished walnut, could be used in living room or dining room. Price, $44. The front and all the inside drawers of the mahogany Secretary is of crocheted mahogany; price, $295. Windsor Chair, $39.50.

Sofa with Hand Embroidered Cover

HAND embroidered wool tapestry covers this Sofa, and the Cushions are down filled. Sale price, $645. The Easy Chair is covered in a combination of plain and figured tapestry, and has a down cushion. Price, $178. An octagonal Table of combination walnut has two drawers and a unique base. Price, $115.

On the Eighth Floor

THE Eighth Floor, from State to Wabash and from Randolph to Washington, is a place of sales this month. In addition to the rare Furniture described here, in detail, there is other Furniture for every room in the house. It is all reduced in price, and becomes a temptation which one is very wise and foresighted to indulge.

Forty Sideboards Reduced to $58 each

ONLY a remarkable combination of circumstances makes it possible for these Sideboards to be marked at so radically reduced a price. They are in mahogany and are very practical representations of high standards of building and construction. There are several styles—among them the very graceful Louis XVI., which is sturdy, yet so cleverly shaped as to be highly suitable in a dining room of limited space.

Sofa, Chair and Library Table

BOTH Sofa and Chair are covered in a combination of plain and figured mohair. The cushions are down filled. The Sofa is priced at $420 and the Chair at $218. Antique mahogany very handsomely carved forms the Library Table, which is priced at $195.

Louis XVI Sofa and Chair

BOTH Sofa and Chair are covered in figured mohair of a pattern which conforms with the period design of the Furniture. Chair, $130; Sofa, $305. The Table is walnut, carved and painted in antique polychrome. Price, $169. The separate Chair, carved and with a high back, is Louis XVI and comes covered in silk velvet and silk damask. Price, $325.

THESE are notably low prices in the SALE OF DOMESTIC RUGS. It has not been easy in the past few years even to get enough Domestic Rugs, nor indeed to quote them at prices which are possible now. But this month we have Rugs of all sizes and the highest qualities marked at figures which speak eloquently for themselves. Every Wilton in our entire assortment is reduced. Three of the best grades, 9x12, are priced at $67, $80 and $96.

THE VENGEANCE OF HENRY JARROMAN

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Henry Jarroman, released from prison, to which he was sentenced twenty years before he was killed, finds that John Camden, his one-time friend, who stole from him all the time he was in prison, and his embittered heart bids him make Camden's daughter a victim.

The girl believes her name to be Nadia Quest. She is employed as a typist by the Hon. William Stranack, who loves her and asks her to marry him. Lord Doucester, his father, is the proprietor of a smart gambling establishment. Theed, Jarroman's rascally son-in-law, visits her and tells her Jarroman desires to find his daughter. They conspire to help Nadia for the real daughter, with the idea of getting Jarroman's fortune. Theed is Jarroman's daughter, and Jarroman recognizes Camden's ring, knows Nadia is his daughter, and rejoices that the victim of his hate is delivered into his hands.

Jarroman has discovered Nadia is Camden's daughter, and that he has found Jarroman's son-in-law. Jarroman calls on his daughter, Nell. While he is instructing Theed to get provisions against Nadia to recover the property he has given her, Jarroman's report is received, in which he states that he finds Camden as innocent of the crime on Eddie as Jarroman himself. The shock of this news to Jarroman brings on a paralytic stroke.

INSTALLMENT XXXVIII. JARROMAN HAS A STROKE.

For a moment Jarroman stared at the lines before him, while his brain tried to focus the fact that John Camden was innocent. He had been in the act of committing murder—the knife, secured with the safety catch, was still gripped in his hand—when his proposed victim had fallen, written by an unseen hand.

He slipped back the safety catch and thrust the knife into his pocket.

An actor is the slave of his part. His perpetual rôle of benevolent elderly gentleman gripped Theed and made him mutter with complete spontaneity:

"Heart failure! That's it! Struck down without a moment's warning! Poor—poor Jarroman!"

He stood for a moment with bowed head and then stooped over the inert body of Jarroman. As his hand felt the heart he drew it back as if it had been stung.

Jarroman was undoubtedly alive.

A savage disappointment flashed in the watery eyes of the solicitor and was gone in an instant.

"While there is life there is hope," said Theed aloud. "The action of the heart seems to me to be feeble, but—one must pray for the best."

"For a moment he hesitated as if in doubt. In that moment he had summed up the situation, concluded that Jarroman was probably about to die, and that nothing could therefore be lost by the presence of an authorized witness."

He found the number of a nearby doctor and sent an emergency call. Then, moving to a part of the room that was in any case out of Jarroman's line of vision, he unfolded the letter which the stricken man had read just before he fell.

When the doctor arrived Theed was as distraught as a fussy benevolent and elderly gentleman could be.

"I was talking to my old friend, Mr. Jarroman, when he had this dreadful seizure," he explained. "He is just as he fell. I dared not move him lest I might cause pain."

"You can help me lift him on to this sofa, if you will," said the doctor. "I can't examine him like this."

Theed waited in an adjoining room while the doctor made his examination. "Is it serious?" he asked in an awed whisper, as the doctor emerged from the room in which Jarroman was lying.

"It's serious, of course," said the doctor a trifle impatiently. "Your friend has had what is commonly called a 'stroke.'"

"Is his life in danger?" asked Theed.

"To a certain extent, yes, naturally," replied the doctor. "We can say little at present. His condition may last a few hours or it may last the rest of his life. It would be equally rash to say that he will die under it as to prophesy that he will be none the worse for it in a few weeks—but either of them is well within the bounds of possibility."

Theed breathed deeply.

"Then you do not forbid us to hope?" he asked.

"No," said the doctor somewhat shortly.

"If he should make a recovery, what it be instantaneous or gradual?"

"It can't be other than gradual," snapped the doctor. "Your regular medical man will keep you informed of the patient's progress."

"So long as his present condition lasts," continued the doctor, "he will be entirely helpless. He will have to be moved to a nursing home. It wouldn't be a bad idea for him to go to a nursing home, I should think."

Theed's brain was working quickly. The nursing home proposition would be no manner of use to him.

"I could not bear to think of him in the hands of strangers, doctor, however skilled and however kind," he said. "He is living alone here—his daughter, as you probably know, was married yesterday—and his servants have left. It is possible for you to have him removed to my house?"

"Yes, of course," said the doctor. "If you like I'll send an ambulance and a couple of skilled men to remove him."

"O, thank you, doctor, thank you," said Theed, seizing the doctor by both hands. "I shall remember your words and I shall put my trust in them."

"The ambulance will be here within an hour," said the doctor and made his escape.

When the doctor had gone Theed returned to the telephone and gave Claudine Crayne's number. A moment later he was speaking to her.

He glanced at the couch where Jarroman was lying, wondered how much he could hear and understand of what was going on around him, and decided to assume that he could hear everything.

"Hello? Theed speaking. I am in Mr. Jarroman's flat. I fear I have bad news. Poor Mr. Jarroman has had a seizure—a paralytic stroke. The doctor suggested that he should go to a nursing home, but I felt sure that at such a time you would wish him to be surrounded by friends, so I thought of bringing him to your house. We shall be there in an ambulance within an hour. Yes."

"Yes, I feel sure that could the poor fellow speak he would wish this to be done, and I know that I will get great happiness to you, no less than to myself, to do all that we can for him."

The rational goal realized that was all that had been said on the telephone. The benevolent elderly gentleman sighed deeply, sank into an armchair, and with folded hands, awaited the arrival of the ambulance.

A couple of hours later Theed was lunching tête à tête with Claudine Crayne. In a quiet room upstairs Jarroman had been put to bed and was in the hands of a trained nurse.

The room in which lunch had been served was a small, eccentric apartment to which Claudine rarely invited any one. Ceiling and walls were covered with an iridescent substance that gleamed like mother of pearl; in its depths the faint green hangings were reflected, and the deeper glow of the rose-wood furniture, and beyond them was the garden with its closed gate.

While the servants were present Theed excelled himself in banalities. His admiration of the Sevres coffee set was verging on the incoherent when Claudine brought him abruptly to the point.

"All the time you have been talking I have been trying to calculate what's at the back of your mind—and I admit I've failed," she said. "Why have you brought Jarroman here?"

"Dear lady, his life is in danger. You would not have him in strange hands at such a time."

Claudine's gleaming nails beat a tattoo upon the polished surface of the table.

"His present seizure was brought about by a terrible piece of news," continued Theed. "He has had the disturbing discovery that Nadia is not his daughter—but John Camden's."

"Ah!"

It was like the snarl of a cat, and, as she leaned forward in her chair, Claudine reminded her guest irresistibly of a silky, sulky Pomeranian. Her dress was of smoke-blue embroidered with silver threads and a chain of opals hung almost to her knees.

Involuntarily Theed backed his chair an inch or two.

For a moment her fierce disappointment held, then she rose and moved about the room. When she reentered he felt that her resentment against the fates had been beaten down to a mere petulance.

"A pity," she drawled. "That puts an end to this brilliant intrigue of yours. But I still don't see why you brought him here."

"To obtain your assistance in another—ah—brilliant intrigue," answered Theed.

Claudine looked her impatience.

"You will have to drop it, surely, now that he knows?"

"The vital spark flickers—it is beyond the power of man to say when it will be extinguished," intoned Theed. "And while we can but endure the throes of anxious uncertainty, the situation is to all intents and purposes the same as if our poor friend were actually dead."

There was a silence. Claudine's petulance had vanished like snow before the sun. She sat with her opals, her eyes on Theed's flabby visage.

"You mean you're going to get to work at once?" she suggested slowly.

"Procrastination," answered Theed, "is the thief of time. When opportunity knocks at the door—"

"Suppose Jarroman recovers?" said Theed approvingly. "I confess that possibility occurred to me before I telephoned you. I was assured that medical opinion would be equally unsurprised if he were to live or die."

Claudine dropped her opals and shivered.

"There are limits," she said half to herself. "And then:—"

"What do you want me to do?"

"You will know better than I," said Theed. "You will know how to use your sweet, womanly influence to protect him from jarring contact with the outside world."

GREAT WESTERN R. R. ANNOUNCES FARE REDUCTION

Summer Tourist Rates to East Slashed.

Officers of the Chicago Great Western railway yesterday served notice on all competitors that it would reduce the regular passenger fare between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis and Chicago and Omaha $1.50. The cut will reduce the regular rate from Chicago to St. Paul from $14.27 to $12.77 and from Chicago to Minneapolis from $14.66 to $13.16. The fare from Chicago to Omaha will go down from $17.93 to $16.43.

The new rates will be effective as soon as tariffs may be prepared. Notice of this was served yesterday on the Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, Soo line, Rock Island, Illinois Central, and Burlington lines at a specially called meeting in the offices of the Western Passenger Association in the Transportation building. The other lines declined to agree to allow the Great Western any reduced rates on the plea that the road was not in a position to compete with the others named on an equal fare basis. A tentative offer to allow the Great Western to operate low rate excursions during the summer and take more immigrant and steamship business was not satisfactory to the old Stickney line.

Presages More Cuts.

The move is likely to cause further passenger fare cuts in the west as it is becoming clear, it is said, that if passenger travel is to be increased, fares must be decreased.

Officers of the railroads east of Chicago agreed yesterday to reduce summer tourist fares to all principal points 20 per cent. This, with the abolition of the war tax, will mean that after June 1 the fares for the next five months will be 28 per cent under those that prevailed last summer. The cuts in eastern fares, which have not yet been officially announced to the public, which will be as soon as concurrence of some of the strictly seaboard lines is secured, will be from Chicago to Niagara Falls, the Adirondack mountain resorts, Saratoga Springs, Marblehead, Mass. (Boston suburb), Asbury Park (near New York), Montreal, and Atlantic City.

Chance for Honeymooners.

The present round trip fare Chicago to Niagara Falls is $36.72 and it will be cut to $29.40. The round trip to the Falls before Jan. 1 was $40.62, which makes a reduction of $11.22 under last season. The round trip fare Chicago to Montreal will go down from $58.42 to $46.74; to Asbury Park, which is near New York City, from $69.10 to $55.28 on the standard rates, and to $51.28 on the differential rates. As it is necessary to go through New York on most roads to get to Asbury Park, the rate will have the effect of lowering the fare to New York to the figure given, $51.28, for the round trip or $25.64 one way, and before Jan. 1. The cut will put the rate back within $5 of the pre-war fare. The new rate to Atlantic City will be $50.40 for the round trip against the present charge of $63.04.

Back to 1920 Level.

Western roads have already announced a 20 per cent cut in summer tourist rates. The new fares of both sets of roads will become effective June 1 and run to Oct. 31.

The reductions while not down as low as the fares that prevailed in 1914 are back to the level of rates that were in effect prior to August 26, 1920, when the commerce commission advanced all fares 20 per cent. Last summer the reductions in fares were so slight that there was little travel.

BLACK AND WHITE TAXI LINE SOLD TO INDEPENDENTS

Announcement that the franchise, capital stock, and good will of the Black and White Cab company had been sold by the Yellow Cab company to a cooperative association of independent taxicab owners was made yesterday.

The new association is headed by Leonard Grossman, formerly general counsel of the Checker Cab company. Daniel Arnshein, an old timer in the taxicab business in Chicago, and Harold E. Leopold are interested in the new organization.

The company will have its main garage at Racine avenue and Monroe street. It is planned to put a fleet of 100 cabs into service this week. Each cab will be owned independently by its driver, but will carry $10,000 liability insurance in the Zurich General Accident and Liability Insurance company. Ltd. The new concern is said to have a paid up capital of $50,000.

Hostess Denies Any Carousing.

Miss Collier, demure in a pink checkered gingham blouse, indignantly denied the place was a rendezvous for noisy carousers. There were meals served there, she maintained, and nothing was served stronger than tea and ginger ale.

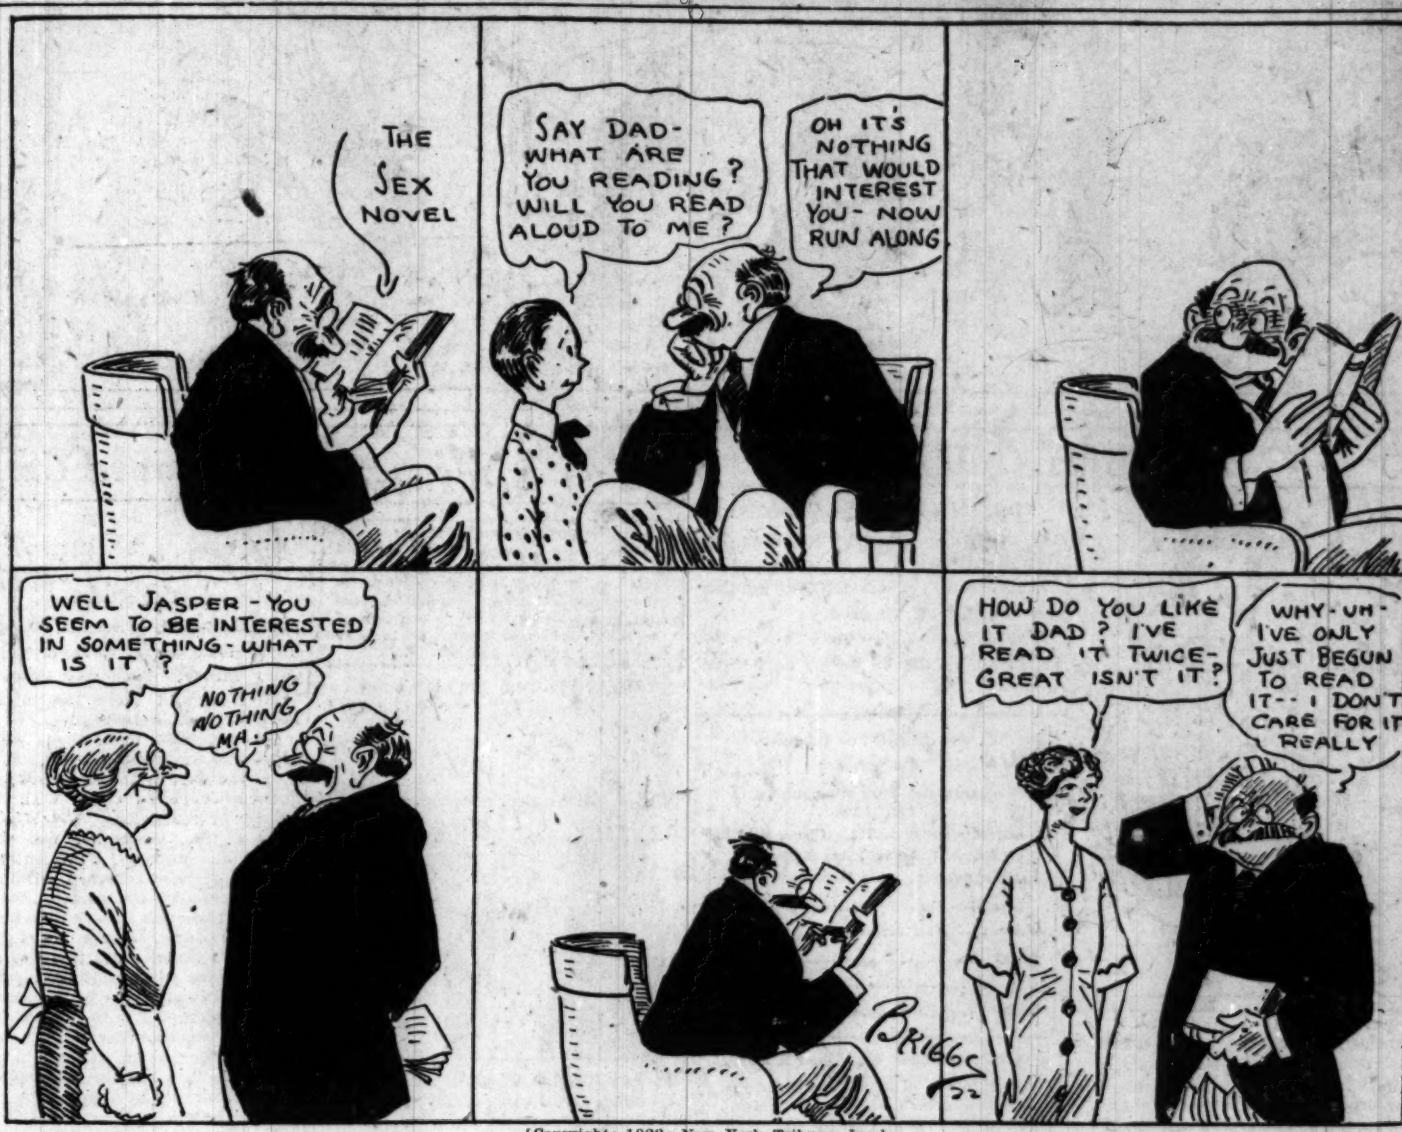

Flashlight guns popped. Attorney Francis Sullivan objected vociferously, demanding the removal of the photographers. Judge Jacobs overruled him.

"Nobody is being harmed," he said. "If the papers would print the names and pictures of people caught in raids at the 'black and tan' places decent people would stay away. The police would have an easier time."

Miss Virginia Harrison said there was no "snugglypopping" of affectionate couples in the corners. Mrs. Nellie Lieberman, Miss Collier's mother, Robert Burke, and Gilson Brown all testified as to the integrity of the place.

"You're all dismissed," decided Judge Jacobs, and the throng looked relieved. "Let this be a lesson to you." He continued the case of the proprietor until March 14 for further investigation.

So Judge Frees Them All but Hostess.

It was a mouth watering morning in Judge Lawrence B. Jacobs' court yesterday. All he needed to be the judge of the strictly seaward lines is secured, will be from Chicago to Niagara Falls, the Adirondack mountain resorts, Saratoga Springs, Marblehead, Mass. (Boston suburb), Asbury Park (near New York), Montreal, and Atlantic City.

Testify to 'Petting Parties.'

Police officers testified that the hall, when they entered, was of Stygian darkness; that candle stumps puttered on the tables; that under the stairs and in the corners couples cuddling amiably and holding hands. They told of the weird art of the Dill Pickle club school decorating the walls.

Next came Albert Otto, rooming house proprietor at 118 East Ohio street. His patrons, he said, moved because of the syncretized "blues" on the piano blown out of the Wind Blew Inn at all hours of the night.

To the defense of the fair name of the inn came L. Franklin of 5735 Blackstone avenue, a student.

"I heard that people of the 'genius' type went there," he said. "I wanted to see what they looked like."

Mr. Carr Revives an Old Timer

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

ACK IN 1906 Alexander Carr, for whom no Periwinkle roles had then been written, found fame and some degree of fortune in "Tobbitsky," the "End of the World."

Now, the clock and suit drama having gone into a temporary eclipse, Carr is playing "Tobbitsky" again, much to the delight of this week's audiences at the Apollo.

The comedy is a naive contrivance, and the plot is a muddled one, but it provides the actor with the opportunity for a mellow, whimsical characterization, and in his hands approaches the dignity of a little classic of the theater.

In the play he is an old Hebrew beset with a single idea, which is veneration for a musty sage named Tobbitsky. His son proposes a marriage which the father does not approve. Finding him adamant, the boy and girl doctor a volume of the infallible Tobbitsky, making it appear that the end of the world is at hand. With dissolution in prospect, as he supposes, the old man gives his blessing and $10,000, only to find that he has been fooled.

On this slender framework Carr builds an impersonation of much quizzical humor and not a little genuine pathos—something akin to Warfield's Auctorian. Then, for good measure, he responds to certain calls with recitations in the Italian, English, and Scotch manner. The customers can't get enough of him.

The usual others at the Apollo include: Marguerite Farrell—in character songs, with a gown for each song. Harry Kranz and Al White—Lively cutups, submitting syncretized melodies and fleet chatter.

Bobby O'Neill and company—A self-confident youth and four talkative young women in an old-fashioned potpourri of song, dance, and spectacle.

"A Southern Gentleman"—Walter Brower by name, though the program does not say so. A drolly engaging monologist in comic observations on prohibition, matrimony, and kindred topics.

Sensational Togo—He slides down a rope from the balcony.

Miss Fritz Scheff, long a stranger to these parts, will be in town again next week. She will bestow her vivid presence upon the program at the Palace Music hall, occupying the headline position and singing a song or two.

WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH.

Mrs. Herman Palmer, 26 years old, 2614 Lawrence avenue, died shortly after her husband's fire from a gas stove, burning her fatally.

STOPS WILL SUIT, SAYING LAWYER HAD MISLED HIM

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14.—[By the Associated Press.]—Crying out to the judge that his lawyers had misled him, Louis McCreery, aged 80, of New Era, Mich., this morning brought the $500,000 estate of his nephew, an abrupt and dramatic end. The trial was started yesterday in the Sangamon County Circuit court.

Rising from his seat by his lawyers, and with his feeble hand raised and white head shaking with emotion, he called out:

"Stop it, your honor. Please stop it. These lawyers misrepresented things to me. I don't want it to go on. I want to go back home."

Pushes Past His Attorneys.

Attorneys attempted to quiet the old man, but he pushed himself past them, up before the judge.

"I haven't seen Johnnie in years," he told the court. "I don't want to break his will. I want to tell the truth. Please stop it."

Judge E. S. Smith talked with him a moment and then, after calling the lawyers into consultation, ordered the case stricken from the docket.

The will under contest was that of John H. McCreery, his nephew, owner and veteran manager of the St. Nicholas hotel here. He had divided his $500,000 estate among three relatives and the housekeeper at the hotel, Mrs. Alice B. Henry, giving her the largest share.

Won by Woman's Story.

Mrs. Henry, the defense maintained, had mothered Mr. McCreery for many years and had been constantly with him in his last illness solely to care for him.

The story of her care for his nephew, told the jury in the opening statement, broke Louis McCreery down, and when the first witness was called to affirm the opening statement he gave way to emotion and broke away from his lawyers to end the case.

"I'm going right back home," McCreery told newspaper men.

ROBBINS 'BROKE,' LAWYER PLEADS IN ALIMONY FIGHT

Cutler B. Robbins, son of George B. Robbins, former vice president of Armour & Co., is "broke." He can no longer afford to pay alimony of $150 monthly to his former wife, Mrs. Mary Robbins, one time Follies beauty.

This allegation is made in a petition which will be argued before Judge Thomas J. Lynch Friday. It is believed to be a sequel to the attempt of Mrs. Robbins to have her former husband held in contempt for taking George B. Robbins, their 2 year old son, to California two weeks ago.

Attorney A. B. Scolnik asserts his client is at the end of his resources and can no longer pay alimony without borrowing from his family and friends.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question

The Question.

Are prices for groceries too high?

Where Asked.

At Madison and Dearborn streets.

The Answers.

Miss Esther Lippin, 1452 North Talman avenue, home girl—At one time I assisted my brother in the grocery business. I have found wholesale prices are so high that grocers make a small margin of profit. They are entitled to make a living.

C. H. Sadarus, Urbana, Ill., auto salesman—Grocers are charging high prices on many articles because a lot of the merchandise they still have on hand is being sold at a loss. The wholesale price hasn't decreased as much as the grocers'.

William Wyers, 1940 Mohawk street, automobile business—Retail grocery prices on some articles are high as compared with wholesale quotations. This is no doubt, due to the fact that some dealers still have goods on hand bought at other than prevailing wholesale prices.

Miss Anne Leavitt, 1636 South Springfield avenue, bookkeeper—Some articles are pretty high as compared to other merchandise, but I doubt if the grocer alone is at fault. The wholesaler has a lot to do with it. The grocer is not making all the profit.

Louis Stein, 3358 Lemoyne street, clerk—My father is a grocer, and it seems to me grocery prices in general have reached a lower level than any other household commodity. It looks to me as though the only thing that has taken a slump is groceries.

Two Killed in Auto Accident

TOLL OF THE DAY

Two persons were killed yesterday afternoon in automobile accidents.

Frank Lobowicz, 8, 1267 Augusta street, was killed when he was struck by a taxicab driven by Henry Brubaker, 806 North Dearborn street.

William Wierdt, 35, Palatine chauffeur, was killed when the truck he was driving was demolished by a railroad train at Palatine.

OUR "ASSOCIATE MAYOR" PUTS IN BUSY FIRST DAY

Finding Work to Do His Hardest Job.

Mayor Thompson's law enforcement commissioner, the Rev. John H. Williamson, spent his first half day on the job yesterday looking for work.

The second half of the day, the Rev. Mr. Williamson spent in trying to find tools with which to do work, if any turned up.

A tabulation of his day's labors, gleaned with difficulty, because of the clergyman's desire that a veil of secrecy be thrown over his affairs until he becomes acclimated in his new environment, may be set down as follows:

Here's What He Did.

Issued two statements.

Posed for two pictures.

Received many congratulations and many newspaper reporters.

Went on a still hunt for investigators.

Enforced one law.

The day opened auspiciously for the minister, for no sooner had he hung up his hat and coat than he got his chance to enforce a law.

A perturbed gentleman rushed in looking for a friend in need. He didn't know that the room was occupied by the new commissioner. He wanted to know how he could get a speeding case fixed. The minister frowned, but grasped the opportunity and directed the newcomer's attention to a hand painted and framed sign on his desk which read:

"Rest for the law is of more value than respect for the violators."

With that the minister bade the pinched party to be gone.

Searches for His Staff.

It was not until late in the afternoon that the commissioner, realizing that if the public should concern themselves with a campaign against bootleggers, with raids by policemen in particularly "bad" districts. For the present, Mr. Ereen said, investigators will be supplied to the minister from the city law department's staff.

Reporter's Queries Futile.

An attempted interview with the commissioner turned out a flat failure. What would the commissioner do with complaints when he got them? The commissioner refused to discuss that for the present.

Would he make personal investigations, with the commissioner's permission, with raids by policemen in particularly "bad" districts. For the present, Mr. Ereen said, investigators will be supplied to the minister from the city law department's staff.

Heavy Work Ahead.

The burden of enforcing the laws during the morning fell entirely on the new commissioner's shoulders. At 1 o'clock Mayor Thompson arrived and the burden was halved. The mayor plans to leave today for a twenty-four hour vacation trip with a party of friends, and until he returns on Friday the "super department head" will have full sway.

JURY CHARGES FATHER $50,000 FOR SON'S LOVE

A jury before Judge Frank Johnston Jr. deliberated five minutes yesterday then returned a verdict of $50,000 damages against Abner Davis, millionaire banker and oil man of Wichita Falls, Tex., in a suit brought by his daughter, in-law, Mrs. Isabel Davis, 1130 East 46th street, alleging alienation of affection.

"Abner Davis Jr. loved me and I loved him," Mrs. Davis told the jury. "His father did not want him to have a wife; he wanted his son all to himself. He just took him away from me, that is all there was to it."

Yesterday's decision was the outcome of the third suit brought by the daughter-in-law. The first case was tried before Judge Charles N. Walker, where the jury awarded Mrs. Davis $50,000. The judgment was appealed and later the case remanded and reversed.

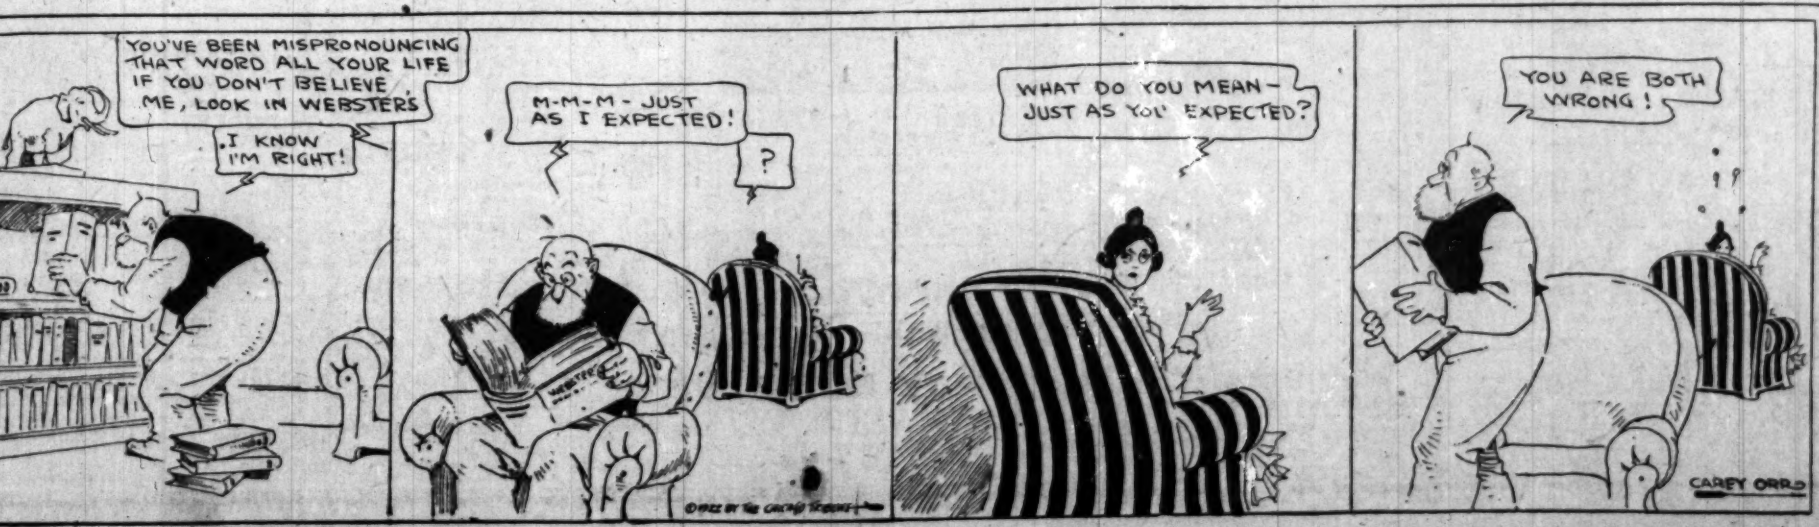

The second hearing was before Judge Frederick R. De Young, in which a verdict of $25,000 was returned. This decision was set aside and yesterday's suit followed.

Can't Keep Warm

"I hope you will be able to come through your column. I am in great need of a blanket. The weather has been so cold the last month or so, but I don't have any more. Instead of in his crib on account of lack of covering and still being so warm enough. We have a small child, a boy, born, and I don't know where to get any when that is gone. I have an ex-serviceman man who works nine months and has a little left over. I am by getting a little help and by that we manage to get along. The American Legion bought us a lot of coal and paid our rent. I have no provisions. If one of you could give a blanket to spare, I think I shall be able to have it. Also, dear Miss S. If some one has an instrument for piano playing not needed, would she please let me have it."

MAY WHEAT HITS $1.39 1-2; OTHER GRAINS ALSO RISE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Strength in foreign markets over the holiday when Chicago was closed resulted in a general rush of buying here at the opening. May deliveries of all grain sold at a new high on the present upturn and the July were in new ground for the season. Immense profit taking on the bulge made a good set back, but the close was strong on all grades with net gains of 3 1/2¢ to 5 1/2¢ on wheat, 1 1/2¢ to 2 1/2¢ on corn, 1 1/2¢ to 2 1/2¢ on oats, and 3 1/2¢ to 5 1/2¢ on rye.

Execution of stop orders in some advanced wheat as much as 5¢ over Saturday's finish, with May leading, $1.39 1/2, being touched. The bulge brought profit taking from all classes of traders, with houses that usually act for leading New York interests present sellers in large quantities at $1.38 and over. This selling continued for several hours, and was finally absorbed and the close was at $1.39 1/2.

Buying Difficult to Trace.

It was easier to trace the selling than the buying, and at the last the element were well evened up. July showed considerable activity, and after selling at $1.23 on the opening bulge reacted to $1.20, only to close at $1.21 1/2. The May-July spread widened out to 15¢ at the close against 12¢ at the finish Saturday. Winnipeg showed more strength than Chicago and was up 6¢ from Saturday, while Kansas City July was 4¢ higher.

A big export business was under way in wheat, with sales reported as high as 1,000,000 bu., and messages from the seaboard indicated that in some instances hedges against this grain had not been removed. Liverpool was up 1/2¢ from Saturday and Buenos Aires 1/2¢ higher as compared with Monday.

Commission Houses Buy Corn.

Strong commission houses were on the buying side of corn, and while there was a sharp reaction after the early bulge, due to receipts of 2,000 cars here and a break of 1/2¢ in the hands of speculators with the May, a swift upturn came toward the last on reports that the Grain corporation would buy 25,000 tons of corn, equal to about 1,500,000 bu. of grain.

Houses with eastern connections were good buyers of rye and exporters advanced their bids 1/2¢ per bu., but failed to secure any grain.

Provisions Close at Top.

Strength in grain and hope, with a fair cash demand, led to buying of provisions by shorts and commission houses, and the close was about the top, with net gains of 2¢ on lard and 2 1/2¢ on short ribs. Prices follow:

WRIGHT CO. CUTS

STOCK DIVIDEND OF

NEAR $4,700,000

BY O. A. MATHER.

A stock dividend in the neighborhood of $4,700,000 to the common stockholders was declared yesterday by the directors of the William Wright company, the Chicago chewing tobacco concern. The stock dividend is 10 per cent, calling for $4,711,716 shares to be distributed to holders of the present $4,711,716 shares of common stock outstanding. The value of the stock is $5, but the price in the market yesterday was around 107. The authorized common capital stock is $10,000,000.

The stock dividend will be payable on or about April 2 to stockholders of record March 25. The new shares will be issued by the regular dividend of 50 cents a share monthly beginning May 1. The directors declared the regular monthly dividends payable on the first day of March, April, May, June and July. Share warrants must be exchanged by noon, April 2.

Showing of Annual Report.

That the Wright company is well able to declare this stock dividend and to maintain its present dividends is shown in the annual report. For the year ended Dec. 31, 1921, net income after taxes was $1,639,674, equivalent after preferred dividends of $1,211,111, or 11.11 per cent on the common stock. Compared with $1,211,111 in 1920, on Jan. 2, this year, the $1,639,674, or 11.11 per cent, is a record for the company.

"Barings for 1921 show an increase of $1,639,674 before providing for federal taxes, which we consider a very favorable showing during the period," President Wright says. "The outlook for 1922 appears to be favorable from the fact that January sales exceeded the corresponding month last year by 13 per cent. During the year we completed the new building at a cost of approximately $1,200,000, which includes the cost of the land, and which is all paid for. The building is 100 per cent rented."

Here Are the Figures.

NEWS OF THE DAY THROUGH THE EYE OF THE CAMERA

"GIVE US OUR MONEY BACK." Scores of men, women and children begged police watching the offices of Raymond J. Bischoff yesterday for the return of the savings "invested" with the "Stockyards Ponzi." "We gave him every penny we had and now have nothing to buy food with," some of the victims sobbed.

A $5,000,000 "COME ON." On the wall of the office of Raymond J. Bischoff, Chicago's "Ponzi," hung this photograph of an oil well "rig." Maybe (as would seem possible from the boats moored to it) it pumped only water. But "investors" in Bischoff's plan believed his stories that it was pumping liquid gold to line their pockets, and gave him millions of their hard earned dollars.

BREEZY CASE OF WIND BLEW INN. The court of Judge Jacobs was crowded yesterday when the affairs of the "bohemian" restaurant at 116 East Ohio street, where forty young men and women were arrested in a raid, were aired. Numbered in the photograph are [1] Judge Jacobs, [2] Miss Lillian Collier, one of the owners, charged with keeping a disorderly resort; [3] bottles of "evidence" taken by the raiders; [4] Miss Virginia Harrison, co-partner with Miss Collier; and [5] the man who caused all the grief, Capt. Morgan Collins, who ordered the raid. "We don't allow liquor served," and "there wasn't any love making going on under the staircase," the owners declared. The court continued the case against Miss Collier until March 14.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

WEDS "SPENDTHRIFT." Miss Edna Van Allen, who eloped to Crown Point with Benjamin Karpen, 1350 Hyde Park boulevard, for whose $50,000 fortune a conservator recently was appointed.

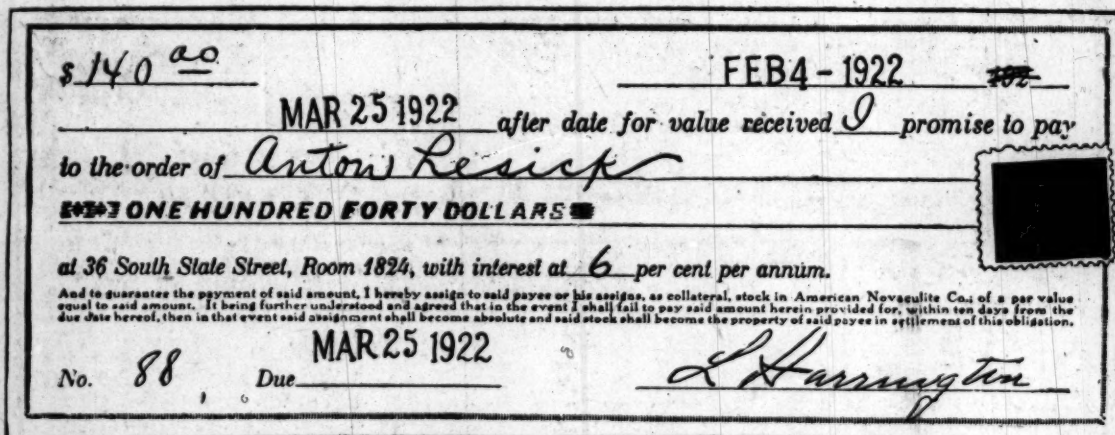

BEGGING FOR TAINTED MEAT. Beef not fit for food, yet not bad enough to throw away, is being sold to the poor people of Berlin at low prices. Men and women form lines at night to wait until the shop opens in the morning and plead, even fight, for a chance to get some of the meat at reasonable prices. Police frequently are called in to stop the battles starting when there are many buyers for few pieces.

"BUSINESS WAS GOOD" when Raymond J. Bischoff posed for this photograph. He had then gathered in over $1,000,000 from "investors."

WOULD YOU "FALL" FOR THIS? L. Harrington, whose office was raided as a "get-rich-quick" concern, "borrowed" money from Chicago poor folk and as "security" gave them "notes" like this one and stock (of par value equal to the amount borrowed) in the Novaculite company, capital $5,000,000. If he didn't pay cash as promised the notes bound the lenders to accept the stock (with an actual value said to be little more than nothing) as payment in full. Police and federal agents are looking for Harrington.

THE WHOLE DARNED FAMILY (all except Lottie) was in Chicago yesterday. Mary and Jack and Doug and Doug's brother, John, and Mary's "ma," Mrs. Charlotte Pickford Smith. "A judge, an editor, and a minister 'framed' all this Hollywood scandal stuff," said Doug.

$50,000 VALENTINE. Mrs. Isabel Davis, 1130 East 46th street, yesterday won a $50,000 decision against Abner Davis for alienating the affections of Abner Davis Jr., her husband and his son.

NO HOME BATTLES. "I'm not engaged to Bebe Daniels," declared Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, in Chicago, yesterday. "But she's a fine girl," he added.

WALSH ON TRIAL FOR LIFE. Thomas Walsh, business agent for the sheet metal workers' union, yesterday went on trial for the murder of Adolf George Jr. and George Gast, a waiter, in the Georg Weinstube on Randolph street. The photograph was taken in the courtroom.

O'DONNELL JURY AT LAST COMPLETE. After more than three weeks spent in examining almost six hundred prospective veniremen, the twelfth man for the jury to try Simon O'Donnell, former head of the Chicago Building Trades council, and other labor leaders on charges of graft was chosen yesterday. The

NEW ROW IN CITY HALL. Russell J. Poole, secretary of the high cost of living commission, started another political tempest yesterday when he refused to give jobs as "food inspectors" to political pets of Ald. Sheldon W. Govier, chairman of the commission.

WIFE'S RETORT. Sued for divorce on charges of cruelty, Mrs. Sadie Weber plans a cross-suit for separate maintenance against John L. Weber, head of the Chicago Costume company.

THE BUG IS FATAL. Southern California golf enthusiasts, not able to play enough on land, have carried the game on to the water. Each player drives from a canoe, using a floating "tee," then is paddled to his ball and (if he hasn't upset himself and "caddy") shoots again. Anchored cups serve for holes.
